$60,000 Estate Fraud Charged

'Marriage' of Seal Beach Man Void, Say Heirs

Charges that John William Newman, wealthy Seal Beach landowner, who died last Oct. 30, was not legally married to his purported wife were hurled today by a brother and sister, as they filed a superior court petition asking revocation of an order admitting Mr. Newman's will to probate.

Mrs. Catherine L. Newman, they charged, was already married but was concealing the fact when she and Mr Newman went through a marriage ceremony in Riverside in 1922, and she and her daughter by a former marriage, Ruth S. Whiaden, are not entitled to share in the $60,000 estate.

The brother and sister, Julia N. Smith and Bernard Newman, alleged Mr. Newman exercised due influence on their brother, who they said drank excessively for 20 years before his death and also was weakened physically and mentally by cancer. Mrs. Newman, they alleged, had been a school teacher and had a "strong and dominating personality."

The will under attack today written by Mr. Newman Nov. 17, 1934, and had attached to it a codicil dated Aug. 2, 1937, leaving the estate to Mrs. Newman, and in the event of her death, to her heirs. His relatives received nothing.

The estate has been appraised at $59,095.05, including a $41,000 interest in the estate of Mr. Newman's late brother, Daniel, who died in 1936.

What I think about the European situation won't make any difference to anybody any time, but I think Il Duce has got something in his plan for a four-power treaty, so much so that if it is made, and then doesn't become "a scrap of paper," it will set the anticipated European war back a generation or two. With the involved nations so tremendously prepared for war, there wouldn't be much left of any country, but death and desolation. What is torn down must be rebuilt, even life itself. There should be and is some other solution than war.

Forcing either side into an acceptance is never a permanent or satisfactory way of reaching an adjustment.

$70,000 LOST TO GROWERS

Losses of $70,000 a year to Orange county fruit and vegetable growers because wholesale markets retain lug-boxes motivated a meeting of Southern California growers in Los Angeles yesterday, to lay plans for protecting themselves.

Farm bureau officials, including those of Orange county, and officials of the Southern California Farm federation, Japanese grower organization, attended the meeting, at which J. J. Deuel, director of the law and utility department of the state farm bureau, was present.

Suggestions for procedure were received and plans were taken under consideration by a committee.

Up to the first of 1937, growers taking produce to market received lug-boxes in exchange for those they turned in or were given credit. Markets discontinued that practice then, with resulting heavy losses to growers.

Mrs. Hume Funeral Set For Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Bettie W. Hume, 89, who died today at her home, 2117 Victoria drive, following several months' illness, will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m. from the Smith and Tuthill chapel with the Rev. C. M. Aker officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Born in Irvine, Ky., Mrs. Hume resided in Santa Ana for the past 30 years. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. L. A. West of Victoria drive. She was a member of the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, and the widow of the late Park L. Hume.

Funeral Rites Set For B. F. Rinard

Funeral services for Benjamin Rinard, 78, who died of pneumonia at his home in Tustin yesterday, will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. from the Smith and Tuthill chapel, with the Rev. Calvin Duncan of Tustin officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery. Mr. Rinard resided in Orange county for 30 years, and in Tustin eight years. He was a lumber grader and a member of the Christian church. He is survived by a brother, John D. Rinard, of Tustin.

BRITISH AND FRANCE TO WARN BERLIN

Two Powers Fear Pact Between Nazi, Italy

PARIS. (AP)—France and Great Britain, fearful of a German-Italian "deal" to give Adolf Hitler a free hand in Czechoslovakia, have decided on an immediate, joint appeal to Praha and a warning to Berlin, French foreign office sources said today.

These sources asserted London and Paris had decided to urge Czechoslovakia to make utmost concessions to her Nazi minority and to warn Germany against committing any "action of violence" against the central European republic.

The representations, it was said, will be made within the next 24 hours — while Hitler and Benito Mussolini are confering in Rome during the Fuehrer's state visit to Italy.

Foreign office circles said the decision came after receipt of diplomatic dispatches from Rome reporting that the Italian and German staffs were studying a plan of action should France and Great Britain "react" after a German coup in Czechoslovakia.

The Paris bourse reflected uncertainty over the Hitler-Mussolini talks. Government bonds lost a substantial part of yesterday's gains and industrial issues fell.

Joint Franco-British representations in an effort to wipe out a threat of European war will follow decisions made by the French and British ministers at their meeting in London a week ago to arrange a common front in defense and foreign policy.

SANTA ANA MEN ELECTED

Two Santa Ana members of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war were named officers of the California-Nevada department yesterday at the concluding session of the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and five affiliated organizations.

C. F. Millen was elected a council member, and Ed Parker of this city was named state counselor of the state organization.

F. R. Young, 93-year-old veteran of Oakland, was installed as G. A. R. department commander last night. The sons elected A. G. Laughlin, Modesto, as department commander; Mrs. Clara Mosher, Los Angeles, was elected district president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, and Mrs. Esther Watts, Pasadena, was named district president of the auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Market Employes Guests at Dinner

Two hundred employes of the Alpha Beta markets throughout Orange county were the guests at a dinner last night given by A. W. Gerrard of Santa Ana, Alpha Beta official. The affair occurred at the Orange woman's clubhouse.

One of the highlights of the evening was a talk by Gerrard on the subject "Success." A short motion picture of scenes along Main street was shown. Ray Stull of Orange assisted in arrangements. President and Mrs. Hugh Gerrard were among the honored guests.

Son Asks Probate Of Father's Will

Probate of the will of the late Lucien Abel Arthur Sweet, who died here April 22, was asked today in a superior court petition by Bryan Abel C. Sweet, of Santa Ana, a son.

The will dated Dec. 12, 1930 leaves property estimated at $34,000 to four daughters and four sons, including James S. Sweet, Juliana Gubi, Abbie I. McNeal and the petitioner, all of Santa Ana. The estate consists of ranch property worth $24,000 and personal property valued at $10,000.

Well, She Finally Went Home

Greta Garbo, who some years ago made famous the "ay tank ay go home now" gag, has at last made it more than a gag. She's home now in her native Sweden. News today is that she has a cold and that she's expecting her erstwhile vacation companion, Leopold Stokowski, to join her in Stockholm.

Four Club Women Draw Four Perfect Hands for Bridge

FINDLAY, O. (AP)—Four women members of the Findlay country club reported today that they all drew perfect bridge hands in one deal during a game of contract.

The four players, and the suits they were dealt, were: Mrs. H. C. McCullough, 13 hearts; Mrs. G. K. Scholer, 13 spades; Mrs. Paul Myers, 13 clubs, and Mrs. E. L. Woosley, 13 diamonds.

The cards were dealt by Mrs. Myers. Mrs. Schooler's grand slam bid in spades won the hand.

Mrs. Scholer said that before the hand was shuffled by Mrs. Woosley the cards had been dropped on the floor and that all four women helped pick them up. Mrs. Scholer said she cut the deck prior to the deal.

WINDLE RANCH IN LAW TANGLE

Suit to recover ranch property owned by the late Stephen W. Windle of Fullerton was filed today in superior court by two daughters of Mr. Windle's former wife, who named his widow, Minnie Maxwell Windle, as defendant.

The property in question, they alleged, was obtained and developed by the joint efforts of themselves, their deceased mother and Mr. Windle and assertedly was held in trust for them by their father.

Plaintiffs are Winnie Guyer Fleming, Laura Pendleton Tann and Verbena Leedom. Mr. Windle died last April 1.

Spanish War Talk Set Next Tuesday

The war in Spain will be the topic of two talks scheduled at Gonzales hall, 306½ E. Fourth street, next Tuesday evening. L. J. Sanderson, a resident of Spain for two years, and Julian Larrabaster, former captain of an engineer's unit in the Basque province, will be the speakers.

Sanderson will address those present on the Spanish government and Larrabaster will tell of the defense of Bilbao.

Rudy Vallee Listed By Senate as Foe Of Administration

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A senate lobby committee witness listed Rudy Vallee today as among the stockholders of a farm magazine which Chairman Minton (D., Ind.) charges is carrying "subtle propaganda" against the Roosevelt administration.

The radio singer's name was brought into the committee's inquiry when Maurice A. Reynolds of Chicago, publisher of the Rural Progress, read — at Minton's request—a long list of financial contributors to the publishing company.

During interrogation of the witness, there were several clashes between committee members and Dr. Glenn Frank, new member of the Republican policy committee and editor of Rural Progress. Frank was ordered by Senator Green (D., R. I.) not to communicate with the witness.

Vallee was said by Reynolds to own $5000 of the magazine company's stock. Dr. Edward A. Rumely, director of the national committee to uphold the constitution, was listed as having put $12,500 in cash into the concern as well as having an $18,500 stock credit for service rendered.

Chauffeur Claims $6570 From Estate

A chauffeur for the late Matthew and Joseph Nevenheim today claimed $6570 from the estate of the former, alleging the amount is due for his services over a period of 41 months.

Levi Kemp filed the claim in superior court against the estate, saying his services were worth $100 a month and use of his car and its expenses another $100. He was paid only a small amount out of the entire bill, he alleged.

Fluttering Stork May Aid Jackie

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Friends injected a new note in Jackie Coogan's fortune fight today by hinting that "The Kid," 23-year-old former idol of the screen, may become a father before the year's end.

The hints were met with enigmatic silence by Jackie as he visited the studio set where his bride, Betty Grable, is working in a gay movie romance.

WOODRING'S TALK BRINGS PROTESTS

Nazis Claim Address Is 'Unfriendly'

ROME. (AP) — Virginio Gayda, Fascist editorial spokesman, declared today that comments such as those in Washington yesterday by Secretary of War Woodring on aggression by dictator nations "could not long continue without provoking most fateful and necessary reactions."

In an editorial in Il Giornale D'Italia, Gayda said:

" . . . lacking this proof, his statements would seem deliberately hostile and provocative to Italy.

"Woodring in substance sanctions with his declarations the activities of bloc politics, the theory of preventive war against the authoritarian regime, and ranks himself among the instigators of that policy of international confusion which could not long continue without provoking most fateful and necessary reactions."

Gayda also referred to Woodring's speech in an editorial on today's imposing military review in honor of Reichsfuehrer Hitler. In that article he called Woodring's remarks before the United States Chamber of Commerce "incredible and intimidating statements."

"Provocation to the so-called authoritarian nations, which are restored in strength and determined to defend their civilization and rights, has become daily exercise even among responsible men of great democracies," Gayda wrote.

JAPS "DEPLORE" WOODRING SPEECH

TOKYO. (AP)—A foreign office spokesman, commenting on a speech by the United States secretary of war, declared today it was "regrettable" when responsible persons made statements serving "only to harm friendly relations."

Secretary Woodring told the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington yesterday that "continued aggression" by dictator nations might one day cause widespread war and saw in the Japanese entrance to Manchoukuo the start of a seven-year chain of aggressions.

The Tokyo spokesman observed that recriminations would not promote peace, and urged Americans to adopt an attitude of understanding.

Von Behren Estate Interests In Court

Termination of the joint tenancy interest of the late Henry von Behren in real estate, an oil lease and $9000 in building and loan certificates was asked today in a superior court petition by the Bank of America.

The bank is executor of the estate of Mrs. Minnie von Behren, who died only a month after her husband's death last Feb. 23.

Tenancy Interests Asked Terminated

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel was asked today to end the joint tenancy interest of the late Flora A. Rhodes of La Habra in 12 lots in that city, seven acres of ranch property and six lots in Riverside county.

Petitioners are Jessie R. Hart and Flora R. Wilson, who allege the property was held jointly by the three of them.

Federation Given School Use Right

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Use of Los Angeles school auditoriums was granted today to the California federation for political unity.

The board of education reversed its stand of two weeks ago when it also denied labor's non-partisan league the use of the auditoriums on the ground it is an affiliate of the communist party.

Drilling To Be Started Within Week, Report

RAIL BATTLE STILL RAGES

Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads resumed their two-year tilt of polite name-calling today as the Santa Fe charged its competitor with "obstructive tactics" in demanding a rehearing of bus-rail applications.

Since March 3, 1936, the two roads have been tangling periodically over Santa Fe's application for a coordinated bus-rail service. On that date hearings began before the state railroad commission. Five million words went down on court reporters' books during the sessions.

On April 18 the battle was over —almost. The commission granted Santa Fe's application. But Southern Pacific asked a rehearing, on grounds the commission had exceeded its authority and that the bus-rail service by Santa Fe would jeopardize the already-worrying railroad financial situation.

The "obstructive tactics" were charged by an answer filed by Santa Fe's legal battery. "The only purpose to be served by a rehearing," said the Santa Fe, "would be a further delay . . . The Southern Pacific company should not be permitted any longer to stay the march of progress. Its obstructive tactics should be halted."

HALF MILLION IN BUILDING

A half million dollars worth of construction was started in Orange county during April, swelling the building total for the two-month period of March and April to over a million dollars, figures amassed by the Orange County Builders exchange show.

The city of Fullerton and coast areas at Laguna and Newport Beaches led all other cities in volume increase for April over the previous 30-day period. Fullerton experienced a gain of $28,000; Newport Beach $45,000, and Laguna Beach $12,000.

The March-April totals for eight of the Orange county cities is as follows: Santa Ana, $200,264; Fullerton, $38,376; Anaheim, $210,112; Orange, $41,630; Huntington Beach, $13,705; Newport Beach, $269,885; Laguna Beach, $107,585, and Seal Beach, $45,735. The following cities reported their April permits as follows: La Habra, $1670; Brea, $8150; Placentia, $600; San Clemente, $5250, and unincorporated areas, $89,406.

Tomato Growers Meet Next Friday

Orange county tomato growers will meet at the county farm bureau headquarters, 353 South Main street, Orange, next Friday afternoon to nominate three producers for election as producer-members of the program committee of the southern California tomato prorate zone, it was announced today by farm bureau officials.

The growers will convene at 2:30 p. m. next Friday under supervision of the Agricultural Prorate commission.

Woman Injured In Car Crash

Mrs. Gwen Minor, 20, 610 Main street, Huntington Beach, sustained cuts and bruises in an accident on West Third street and Stanton road in Stanton last night.

Cars driven by Clay W. Williams, 49, West Third street, Stanton, and Henry K. Talbert, 19, 228 Main street, Huntington Beach, were involved in the collision.

China Again Asks League to Intervene

GENEVA. (AP)—China protested again today to the League of Nations against Japanese invasion, citing 34 causes of "bombardment and indiscriminate murder of Chinese noncombatants as well as other outrages" since last Oct. 27, the date of her last note.

"The Chinese delegation asked that the note be presented to league members "for information and examination."

For the second time within a year, Costa Mesa today was in the grip of wild oil excitement with the report that a Michigan firm has leased more than 2000 acres of land almost surrounding the community and will start drilling immediately.

Representatives of the A. and V. Oil and Gas company of Dundee, Mich., have conducted a quiet leasing campaign during the past 60 days, residents said this morning, and have signed up large plots of ground on all sides of the mesa community.

When all necessary leases were received this week, the oil company received permission to drill, and complete modern equipment, including a steel derrick, will be moved to a drilling site early next week, officials said today.

According to present plans, the initial hole will be sunk at the northwesterly boundary of Costa Mesa terrace, in the vicinity of Placentia and Hamilton streets.

The Michigan oil group will operate under the corporate name of "A. and V. Oil and Gas Company of California." It is understood in Costa Mesa that Charles Violette of Long Beach and R. G. Chambers of Costa Mesa are closely connected with the company. C. Lucas has been named secretary-treasurer.

The latest attempt to discover oil in paying quantities in the Mesa district follows several others, which have been abandoned in past years.

ORANGE BOY WINS 'HOPE'

Discovery of a mysterious new suspect today brightened the future for Lawson O. Gist, 23-year-old Orange youth who faces a lifetime behind penitentiary walls for kidnaping, robbery and grand theft.

Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen continued for one week Gist's application for a new trial, after Fred Johnston, court-appointed attorney for Gist, said he wanted witnesses in the case to look at the new suspect, whose identity is being closely guarded since he is not under arrest.

Gist was convicted by a jury of kidnaping and robbing James K. Givens Feb. 25 aid of stealing his automobile.

Virgil Marr Named Disabled Vets Head

Virgil Marr is the new commander of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled Veterans of the World war, it was learned today when results of the recent post election were made known.

Other officers who will serve with Marr are as follows: C. C. Triplett, Orange, senior vice-commander; Herbert Thwaite, Santa Ana, junior vice-commander; and the following committeemen, Ellis W. Gaddis, Anaheim; Oakley White, Fullerton; E. M. Denny, Orange; P. C. Brooks, Tustin; J. C. Payne, Newport harbor; Harry J. Starr, Placentia and Brea; William Stute, San Clemente, and Dan Laub, Santa Ana. Installation is planned for the first meeting in July.

Actress Denies She Paid for WPA Role

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Ilsa La Coste, blonde German actress used three languages today to squelch the rumor she paid her way into the Federal Theater project in order to play Cleopatra.

"No, no, no!" said Miss LaCoste, her tones more vehement than those of the siren of the Nile whom she portrayed recently on a Hollywood stage in Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

Food Prices Skid In S. A. Price War

Food prices slithered down in 50 commodities today as leading Santa Ana markets opened a sudden price war. Last minute reductions kept store employes busy marking down price tags and drew bargain hunters in droves. Merchants were unable to predict how long the price battle would last.

Orange Pickers Plan Labor Meet

Representatives of 5000 Mexican citrus pickers will meet in Fullerton tomorrow morning to draft means of "enforcing" a contract assertedly drawn up at the conclusion of the 1936 citrus strike, guaranteeing collective bargaining with ranch employers, Lucas Lucio, consul's representative here, said today.

The Mexican citrus pickers in this area have named delegates to the Fullerton meeting, according to Lucio, and they will discuss plans to enforce the contract he said had been made at the conclusion of the strike.

Renato Canta Lara, former Mexican consul at Los Angeles who has been transferred to Texas, was reported to have made agreements with the Associated Farmers and other groups that Lucio said the Mexican workers may renounce at the meeting tomorrow.

Edward Zambrano, vice consul at Los Angeles, is in temporary charge of the consul's office.

HOUSE MEMBERS BACK MOVE FOR VOTE ON WAGE-HOUR BILL

Petition to Force Balloting Presented By Chairman Norton; FDR Approves

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A mad scramble followed filing of a petition today to force a house vote on the revised wage-hour bill, and within a half hour 100 members had signed. Sponsors of the petition said there were 188 signatures on the petition within an hour. The petition was filed by Chairman Norton of the house labor committee as soon as the house convened. The petition must have 218 names to give the measure a new house test.

On several occasions, the members attempting to affix their signatures threatened to tear the paper apart.

Speaker Bankhead, rapping vainly for order, was forced to suspend business.

"Will the members please form a line and maintain some sort of order?" he sang out.

It was the second time since last November the membership had been asked to overcome, by the petition method, opposition of the house rules committee to wage-hour legislation.

If the petition is completed, the house could consider the bill by May 23—but not earlier.

The rarely used petition method, indorsed in this instance by President Roosevelt, was designed to overcome the opposition of the house rules committee. That group refused last week to give the bill legislative right of way.

Sponsors said between 25 and 30 Republicans had agreed to sign. When a similar petition was used to overcome rules committee opposition to the original wage-hour bill last fall, less than 10 Republicans signed.

Democratic legislators said dissention in Republican ranks over the wage-hour measure was an important by-product of the fight.

Conservative Republican leaders, they said, wanted to oppose the bill openly, but members from northern industrial districts objected. It was from the latter group that proponents of the legislation hoped to get support to offset southern Democratic opposition.

D. A. V. Chapter to Visit Hospital

Members of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war, planning to take part in next Sunday's hospital visit at San Fernando are urged to communicate at once with Chairman Herbert Thwaite. He announces he will furnish transportation to those wishing it.

Blindness, Death Alternatives for Baby, 5 Weeks Old

CHICAGO. (AP)—An ailing baby rested in a hospital crib today while her heartbroken parents weighed a choice between blindness or death.

An operation would probably save the life but destroy the sight of baby Helaine Judith Colan, five weeks old, medical men agree. They predicted that without an operation, glioma, a tumor affliction from which the infant suffers, would take the child's life in two months.

The malady was considered unusual but the operation necessary to arrest it was said to be not dangerous in the average case.

Dr. and Mrs. Herman Colan, the parents, also considered a slim possibiilty of saving part of the infant's sight by removing one eye and treating the other with x-ray.

Apparently healthy and normal, the child was born in Garfield Park hospital, the second daughter of Mrs. Estelle Colan, 23.

GIRL ATTACKER GETS LONG TERM

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—Convicted of attacking a young girl, 62-year-old H. H. Austin today faced a prison term that may keep him behind the bars of San Quentin the rest of his life.

Found guilty of ravishing Betty Craven, 11, and then found sane by the same superior court jury a few minutes later, Austin was sentenced to serve one to 50 years.

On two counts of lewd and lascivious conduct, to which he pleaded guilty, two terms of one year to life were imposed, to begin upon conclusion of the attack sentence and run concurrently.

The Craven girl, beaten into unconsciousness, was found in a vacant lot here March 27.

Local Trio Thought Lost in Blizzard

Concern for the safety of Dooley Jeffrey, Frank Briggs and Joe Harless was felt by relatives here when word came that they were snow-bound in the Bishop country.

The Santa Ana trio left last Friday for a fishing trip at Silver Lake, and it was understood they were caught in an unexpected blizzard. They are not due home until late today or tomorrow.

LATE RANCHER'S ESTATE FIGURES IN COURT SUIT

Woman Found to Have Taken Money Deposits

Mrs. Blanche Robinson, dark-haired former trailer-nomad, was adjudged today to have misappropriated $5752.12 from property of her aged cousin, Jonas P. Street, Cypress rancher who died in 1936.
Superior Judge H. G. Ames, characterizing Mrs. Robinson's answers to questions as "evasive," gave Public Administrator Earl Abbey judgment for that amount yesterday afternoon. Abbey had sued as administrator of the Street estate following Mrs. Robinson's removal.
The district attorney's office was represented by Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker as Judge Ames gave his decision; and Walker said his office may investigate the case further.
"Mrs. Robinson," said Judge Ames, "is one of those witnesses who, when she is confronted with a question the answer to which might be prejudicial, her answer either is evasive or she 'doesn't remember' . . . she was impeached so repeatedly that the court would be justified in disregarding all her testimony. . . "
The court found that Mrs. Robinson must have removed $3669.06 from a safety deposit box owned by the late Mr. Street, although she maintained during the trial she "did not see what he did with the money" and suggested "he might have buried it."
The buried-treasure theory led attorneys, before trial of the case, to comb the Cypress ranch with an electrical "gadget" which detects presence of buried metal.
They uncovered water pipes and tin cans, but no gold.
Mrs. Robinson bought out interests of six cousins in the ranch for a total of $3300, after she said she prevailed on Mr. Street not to leave the property entirely to her. The ranch later was appraised at $5000, it was pointed out in argument by David D. French, attorney for Abbey.
Judge Ames commented on several instances where Mrs. Robinson's testimony was "successfully impeached" between stories she told in probate court and in the civil trial. Mrs. Robinson, represented by Roger Dutton and T. L. McFadden, had contended she was "confused" at the probate hearings.
He remarked that Mr. Street's confidence in his neighbors and life-long friends dwindled rapidly after arrival of the Robinsons at his ranch, and added the Robinsons apparently tried to keep the elderly rancher from seeing them.
Judgment was rendered for the $3669.06 assertedly taken from the safety deposit box, and for a $2083.06 check given Mrs. Robinson by her cousin.

ATTACKS G-MEN
LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—Federal dry agents today swore out an assault warrant for Elmer Dement, claiming he deliberately ran down one of them with a two-horse wagon while they were raiding a still. Agent Lawrence G. Mitchell suffered a broken leg. Dement, held in $2000 bail, was also charged with operating the still.

HAIR DRIER STOLEN
A $50 hair drier was stolen from the basement of the Y. M. C. A. building, 205 Church street, last Wednesday night, Secretary Ralph Smedley reported yesterday.

Students of Architecture Show Model Plans For S. A.

University of Southern California college of architecture students last night presented a preview of the school's proposal for modernizing business buildings in the local trading area. The occasion was a dinner at the Ebell clubhouse attended by 130 faculty members, students and townspeople. Changes suggested by the university class are illustrated by a series of building models and sketches. These will be on public exhibition at the clubhouse until 9 o'clock this evening and during the forenoon tomorrow.
Principal speaker at the dinner was Gordon Whitnall, of Los Angeles, who is Santa Ana's planning consultant, and also a U. S. C. architecture instructor.
Whitnall pointed out that the plans shown by the pupils are in support of the idea "that society has the right to consider the appearance of business buildings."
Whitnall emphasized frontiers no longer exist and that men cannot continue pushing west, but must settle down in certain localities and "learn to live with one another." As a result, Whitnall said, "We should make our living conditions as ideal as possible, for the best is none too good."
C. M. Baldwin, instructor directly in charge of the work, explained that the university chose Santa Ana for the project because this community typifies the average, busy, small metropolitan area. "Santa Ana is a county seat town, it's rich in back country and is an established community," he said.
The display includes two exhibits graphically illustrating assessed land valuations and assessed building valuations in the central business district. Another part of the showing depicts the rapid growth of the business area during the past 10 years. Individual drawings of each store in the group which the students would modernize is another feature of the exhibit.
A dozen parking lots, a quarter to a half block in size, are drawn into plans for the proposed Santa Ana business section for 1948.
Mayor Fred C. Rowland presented the address of welcome. Dean A. C. Weatherhead of the college of architecture, was among the persons introduced. The toastmaster thanked The Journal for its cooperation in publicizing the event.

Dwarfs Ditch Day Victors Orange High School Show

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" won the sweepstakes award at the annual ditch day costume show staged by the Orange High school seniors this morning. Following the event, the pupils drove to the beach to enjoy the remainder of the day swimming.
The boys dressed as "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" were as follows: Forest Ockles, Snow White; Don Miller, Bashful; Ernest Gommel, Doc; Tom Letto, Sleepy; Lloyd Robbins, Dopey; Basil Pantages, Sneezy, and Dean Schoenfeldt, Happy. Evelyn Myracle won the award for having the most original dress. She was attired in dishtowels and declared she was "mother's little helper." Winston Nichols and Cloyne Streech attracted attention in their characterizations of Charley McCarthy and Eddie Bergen.
Margaret Hughes and Evelyn Brown took the honors for the oldest costume and Vivian Stanley's clothes were judged funniest. Seven girls who were awarded a special group prize were: Margaret Kenney, Margaret Korse, Rosemary Atchley, Dorothy Morse, Edna Hoffman, Bernice Rowlands, and Fern Barnes.

Coach Dog Tries To Make Police Dog of Himself

Maybe it was love at first sight. At any rate, a sleek and playful coach dog that strayed to Fourth and Main streets wouldn't stay at home after it got acquainted with the Santa Ana police.
The dog, belonging to Max Wilson, 1001 North Ross street, was found by Patrolman Bud Jones, who brought it to the station. Several officers and Secretary Edith Hay played with the delighted dog while another policeman was contacing Mrs. Wilson.
She came to the station and took the beast home. Fifteen minutes later, coach dog was back wagging its tail in front of the desk sergeant's counter.

Two Charged With Drunk Driving

Motorists from two corners of the United States met in Orange county jail today, where they both were booked on drunk driving charges.
Mrs. Ryda Niemi, 34, Seattle, Wash., was arrested by Anaheim police, and Ralph Warnke, 33, of La Mesa was picked up yesterday by San Clemente police.

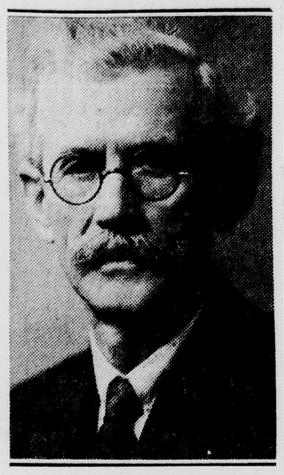

PETTY THEFT CHARGE
Arrested yesterday on a Long Beach warrant, Orville K. Hardy, 45, Redondo Beach, was booked in the county jail here on three counts of petty theft and one charge of defrauding an innkeeper.

Paper Seeking Legal Status

S. A. Meyer's "hyphenated newspaper" applied to superior court today for status as a legal publication.
Meyer filed a petition asking that his Newport-Balboa News-Times, product of a consolidation of the Newport News and Balboa Times, be adjudged a legal newspaper in its own right, entitled to publish legal advertising. The News, he alleged, began publication in 1908, while the Times was established in 1925. The paper now is a semi-weekly.

Retiring

W. M. CLAYTON

Approximately 400 persons are expected at the testimonial dinner tonight at 7 o'clock in the high school cafeteria in honor of Vice-Principal W. M. Clayton, veteran Santa Ana educator, who is retiring from service in June.
Many of those attending the affair will be former pupils of Clayton's who were in his classes while he was a teacher in the old First street school from 1902 to 1910. Since 1910, Clayton has been a member of the high school faculty.
The dinner is under the direction of a committee of former pupils of Clayton's, headed by Carl Hankey of San Juan Capistrano. Tickets may be obtained from Bob Spurgeon, Pat Turner, Chester Congdon, Harold Brown and Don Andrews.

ART STUDENT WINS HONOR

Fred Avila, Santa Ana High school art student, received word today that his art work has been chosen for exhibit with the Eleventh Annual Exhibit of High School Arts and Crafts in the Fine Arts Galleries of Carnegie Institute, in Pittsburgh, Pa., as a result of a nation-wide contest.
The awards were offered for the Fourteenth Annual Awards for Creative Arts, Crafts, Music and Literature, sponsored by Scholastic, a national high school weekly magazine.
Paintings, drawings, prints, art-metal work, statues, textiles, wood carvings, mechanical drawings, adart pieces, etc., were received from schools in every part of the country. Art creations from 10,000 students were submitted to the art division of the Scholastic awards. The preliminary jury rejected 5000 pieces; the remaining were judged by nationally famous artists, critics and educators. Some received cash prizes and scholarships, and 900 pieces were selected to be hung in the Fine Arts Galleries.

Marjorie Kenyon Elected Queen of College Fiesta

Political uproar, brought to a sizzling heat when officials discovered that more votes were cast for Don and Dona than there were students in Santa Ana Junior college, quieted down today with election of Marjorie Kenyon to reign as queen at the annual fiesta May 20. Primary elections were held again yesterday afternoon, with school officials this time satisfied there was no stuffing of ballot boxes. Miss Kenyon will not be required to enter the runoff vote, her majority giving her victory over Aloen Miller and Evelyn Richards for the Dona job.
At the same time, Bob Reif was in the lead for Don, with Bill Semnacher trailing. Paul Wolven was eliminated on the first ballot. Although Reif received 124 votes to the 85 garnered by Semnacher, the two will oppose each other in finals Monday, according to Jerry Roland, general chairman of the fiesta.
The new Dona will reign with the elected Don during the annual Fiesta day celebration. The Don and Dona will be crowned by Father Joseph Thompson the afternoon of the fiesta, after the big parade.

Many improvements are scheduled for the branch college of agriculture at Davis.

LEGION PLANS 2000 STEAKS

Two men who gained local fame as masters of the barbecue will cook the beefsteaks for an estimated 2000 persons at the old-fashioned barbecue picnic planned by the American Legion in Sycamore Grove camp ground in Santa Ana canyon, May 29.
The two chefs—Tony Barries, Santa Ana cafe man, and Willis Duffy, Elks club barbecuer—are working on a full-course menu for the dinner. Judge Frank Drumm of Santa Ana will be master-of-ceremonies.
The picnic is being staged by the county Legion's Disaster Relief commission to raise funds for relief work and for the annual Armistice Day parade.

RARE SPECIMENS BROUGHT BACK BY EXPLORERS

By Science Service

NEW YORK. — Five American Museum of Natural History explorers are back in the "big city" with a large collection of specimens showing the close relationship of birds and mammals atop three "lost worlds" in the jungles of Venezuela.

Headed by Dr. George H. Tate and backed by William Phelps, the expedition explored 8000-foot high Mt. Auyantepuy in the Orinoco jungle, one of the least explored regions in the world. With them on their return they brought 2300 birds and 500 mammals plus a large collection of plants.

Museum expeditions, of which Dr. Tate was a member, visited the other two isolated previously unexplored mountains, Mt. Roraima and Mt. Duida in 1928 and 1929.

They spent three and a half months atop the tableland. Unlike many expeditions which in the past have had to spend weeks and months toiling to reach their objectives, they reach Mt. Auyantepuy in a few hours by airplane from Cuidad Bolivar, a city in Venezuela.

Peculiar types of vegetation found nowhere else in the world were found growing on the bare sandstone or on the humus. Varieties of orchids were also observed.

Arecuna Indians living in villages near the base of the mountain were found to be kind and gentle but have one superstition that cannot be described as either, members of the expedition declared. The Indians tell of an evil spirit named Canima, who has the shape of a man and who lurks behind trees to club victims. Contact with him means sure death, the expedition members were told.

Among the birds discovered were the jabiru, a stork standing five feet high. It has a white body, vivid red legs and a long yellow bill. Thirty species of humming birds were noted, the smallest being an inch and a half long.

PACKING PLANT HAS WALK OUT

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Nearly 100 employes of the Cornelius Packing company called a walkout in a union protest against a proposed wage cut and picketing started at the plant.

Secretary Frank Kosky of Butchers' union local 563, AFL affiliate, said wages were already 15 per cent below the standard scale and were to be reduced another 15 per cent.

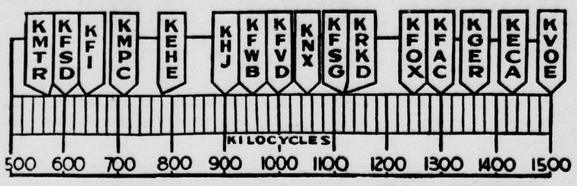

A spokesman for President S. T. Cornelius said business conditions necessitated either a general wage cut or the discharge of some employes.

The Canadian Broadcasting corporation will introduce a new international exchange program tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 when Percy Faith, arranger-conductor, will present "Bands Across the Sea" from studios of station CBL, Toronto.

The program, designed as a salute to Hawaii, will be heard on KVOE and the coast-to-coast Mutual-Don Lee broadcasting system before spanning the Pacific by short wave to Honolulu.

"Bands Across the Sea" will be a presentation of strings in swingtime with special arrangement in the modern manner of Director Faith.

Old Jeremiah Prentice had two loves: his daughter, Estie and his violin. Little Estie, although only 17 years old, was very much in love with Joel Reed. But a most peculiar situation arose to make the choice between the two loves of Jermiah most complicated indeed. Such is the setting for tomorrow afternoon's broadcast of "A Sporting Proposition" from KVOE at 12:15—another "Drama of Life" story.

Love in Disguise

by MARY KEAS

Copr. 1938 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Peggy O'Toole, whose parents died after migrating from Dublin to New York, has grown up in humble circumstances. Her mother married her father an Irish rebel, against the wishes of her wealthy parents, had become estranged from them, and had never seen them again. Peggy learns from a lawyer that her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greer, are still alive, are in America, and want to get in touch with her, but she refuses to see them. Meanwhile, she has become governess to the little grandchild of wealthy old Peter Meredith, and has become engaged to a young taxi-driver, Jimmie Butler. Then, one night, she discovers that he is George Meredith, prodigal son of old Peter. While drunk, he behaves like a cad. She breaks their engagement and, immediately afterward, is badly injured in an accident. Jimmie is bitterly remorseful, but he has hurt Peggy too deeply to win her forgiveness at once. The accident, however, brings about a reconciliation with her grandparents.

CHAPTER XIX

IT WAS late in the summer before Peggy finally left the hospital—to go to the country home of her grandparents. In the many weeks that had intervened since she had first seen them, they had been in constant attendance on her and, by slow degrees, had won her confidence and affection.

She had still hesitated to consent to go to their home, for the tie that bound her to Grandma Burke and Rosemary and Mickey was too strong to break. She had felt that her place was still with them. But when the doctor had told her that she would need all the sunshine and fresh air she could get, that her grandparents' estate was the ideal spot for her and had pointed out that the Burkes and her other friends could visit her there often, she had finally consented.

She had been informed, long before, that she might never walk again, but she had taken the news courageously, and was now resigned to the fact—at least, outwardly. If, sometimes, at night, she cried herself to sleep, no one ever knew.

Daily, whenever the weather permitted, she was wheeled into the Greers' garden, to sit there for hours while her nurse-companion read to her. Her little dog, Jasper, who had left the Burkes to accompany her to the country, would lie at her feet, or would amuse her with his antics as he romped on the lawn.

Sometimes, the voice of the nurse reading would put her to sleep. More than once, her grandfather came upon her drowsing in the sun.

"WE'LL soon have the roses back in those pretty cheeks," he said one day. "Then, I suppose, some handsome, good-for-nothing young scamp will try to steal you away from us!"

Peggy's new color faded a little at his words.

"I'm afraid not," she said, forcing herself to speak lightly.

"Now now!" he chided. "There must be half a dozen young fellows in love with you! How about that good-looking young policeman? Or how about young Meredith? I notice they've been to see you a number of times."

Peggy's cheeks grew a shade paler. "I'm never going to get married," she said firmly. "Never."

Her grandfather laughed. "You will change your mind when the right young man comes along. You'll see!"

Peggy did not answer. She could not tell him what a sore spot he had touched.

Since that first time she had seen Jimmie at the hospital, he had been to see her many times but usually there had been others present, and the meetings had been constrained.

As time had passed, the wound he had inflicted had healed a bit, and she nursed no bitterness against him, but she couldn't escape the feeling that his remorse and his efforts to regain her favor were prompted by pity. She knew he blamed himself for her accident, and she told herself that he was simply trying to make amends. But if she could not have his love she did not want his pity.

Then, when she had been told that she might be crippled for the rest of her life, she had gloomily reflected that perhaps it was just as well that things had happened as they had. Suppose she had still been engaged to Jimmie? She would have felt bound to release him in any case. She couldn't have let him burden himself with a crippled wife—even if he had loved her. No, she couldn't let any man—now—tie himself down to her for life . . .

MEANWHILE, Jimmie had gone to work in his father's store. In his anxiety to redeem himself, this had seemed to him at least one tangible means whereby he might do so. If he bowed dutifully to his father's wishes, settled down, and showed an earnest effort to make something of himself, instead of knocking about aimlessly, as he had done heretofore, he hoped it would help him to win back Peggy's esteem.

And if he regained her esteem, he might—in time—win her forgiveness.

He knew, however, that he must bide his time—that he could not win her back as easily as he had once before. He paid her frequent visits and, as the weeks passed, was pleased to notice a lessening of her formality toward him, an occasional return to her old gaiety. They seemed, slowly, to be getting back onto their old footing.

Then, at last, there came a day when he felt sufficiently sure of himself to voice the question that he had been saving for so long. Would she forgive and forget—and once more promise to marry him?

Her answer was like a blow.

"No, Jimmie," she said, gently but firmly. "I long ago forgave you but—I cannot marry you. That's . . . over."

He said unsteadily. "But why? If you have forgiven me . . . and you loved me before . . ."

"Yes," she said slowly. "I loved you before but—everything is—different now . . ."

SHE turned her head away, so that he could not see her eyes. She was trembling. The thought flashed through her head that the old, impetuous Jimmie, despite her "No," would have taken her in his arms and forced her to look at him. Had he done so, he might have read the truth in her eyes.

But he didn't. It was, then, pity and remorse that prompted his proposal—not love—she told herself.

And Jimmie was thinking, "I've spoken too soon. I should have waited a little longer . . ."

Aloud, he said, "If—if you loved me once, don't—don't you think you could love me—again?"

She shook her head. "I don't think so, Jimmie." She paused, then said, "Did you know my grandparents are taking me to Europe?"

"Europe?" he repeated dully.

"Yes—there's a specialist in Paris who they hope may be able to do something for me."

"Oh!" He was silent a moment, then said suddenly, "Peggy, is that why you won't promise to marry me? Is it because . . . because . . ." He couldn't say it.

"No," she said quickly.

"But Peggy," he pleaded, "won't—won't you think things over—give me another chance—and then when you come back to America . . ."

"I can't promise anything for the future, Jimmie," she told him.

TRAPS ROBBER

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Abraham Widman slammed the door of his cigar store today on one hand of a would-be robber and held tight while the gunman, on the opposite side, splintered the door with six shots. A policeman captured the gunman. Widman was uninjured.

BIKE THEFT

A bicycle stolen from L. R. Pollins, 2037 Oak street, Wednesday night was recovered at the Lathrop school last night. Don Marley, 1519 North Ross street, reported theft of his bicycle from Fourth and Birch streets early in the evening.

RAMBLING AROUND ORANGE COUNTY
—with—
T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Lagunaticks are responsible for more unusual—or you might say screwy — ideas than residents of any other community in this hemisphere.

Lagunaticks paint their sidewalks in amazing colors. They have heated battles over how much skin shall show around the admittedly brief edges of bathing suits. They blow bubbles into their coffee at the Amen Corner Arguing club. They have city council meetings which start one day and end the next with nothing much done, except a lot of fun for everyone.

Their activities aren't so much different than residents of any other community of the same size, I guess, but for some reason or other—mebbe it's the newspapers —we seem to notice their unorthodox doings more.

(I'm leading up to something. Catch it?)

Recently Laguna became all het up about a new federal project, whereby the government, with great ceremony and little effort, constructed a municipal Chic Sale. All sorts of things like that happen.

And now we have another project.

Another of their amusing (to me, at least) projects has been the palatial pooch hotel.

That hound hostelry has brought many a giggle. Not that it isn't a swell place, and a worthy addition to the civic structures. But something funny's always popping up concerning that residing place for pampered Pomeranians.

Now, they're going to soundproof the joint!

It seems that hounds would howl with glee at being tossed into such a lovely place by the village poundmaster. They'd yammer and yell until the neighbors'd protest and get the mayor out of bed, or something.

The yappings, I'm told, got on the nerves of nearby residents until they finally demanded quieter pooches or somebody's scalp. They're going to get quieter pooches.

The whole place will soon be so fixed that the joyous yelpings of incarcerated canines will sound like twitterings of canaries in the nearby shrubbery instead. Then everyone will be happy.

* * *

Did you ever hear of a soundproofed pound any place but in Laguna? Neither did I!

* * *

Huntington Beach also has a funny idea or two, but New Mayor Mac McCallen broke out with a swell one the other day.

Mac amazed everyone — including himself — when they elected new councilmen last month by polling the largest vote they've ever cast for a candidate. Because of the overwhelming support from all parts of the city, he was instantly named mayor.

Now Mac's decided on an innovation, at least for smaller cities in the county. He's going to have an office, with regular hours there, for The People to come and recite their woes.

It's something new, and it's pretty swell, too, I think. It'll give everyone a chance to get things off'n their chests, if any, and will give Mac a chance to find out what people think. Not many folks will get up at a council meeting or other alleged public gathering to scream and howl about something. The same old ones do that, time after time, until they don't have any effect any more.

But, when a home owner, or the village drug clerk or someone has a "beef," and can walk into the mayor's office and talk things over with Hizzoner, it'll create a better civic atmosphere. Common folks will know what's going on, will have more confidence in their government and probably won't even howl so much when they get the tax bill.

Swell idea, huh? The city council was all for it, too. Mayor McCallen installed his own furniture in the office!

* * *

In case some of you folks in other towns can't find your mayor and are angry about something, go on down and call on Mayor Mac. His hours in the office are 11 a. m. to noon every day except Saturday. Even if he can't help you out, he'll be glad of the visit!

* * *

What well-known Placentia admiral promised fish for a community barbecue the other night, went out to try for his sea food on three separate occasions and finally caught 'em in a market?

That admiral must be losing his grip!

* * *

How about an oldest trapdoor spider contest?

Tow Howe, up in Brea, has what's supposed to be the oldest one in the county, in case anyone's interested.

The long-legged critter has resided in Tom's front yard for 16 years! Which is a long time for a trapdoor spider to live, even in Brea.

* * *

This spider's smart, too. He's a big guy—about the size of a well-fed tarantula—and he's plenty strong. Try to open his front door and he grabs the lid and keeps the place shut tighter'n an old-fashioned speakeasy!

VISITS IN MESA

Costa Mesa P.-T. A. Group Ends Year With Meeting

Long-Awaited Bells Arrive for Orange Church

ORANGE.—The 11 musical bells cast for the Immanuel Lutheran church by an English firm arrived in Orange Wednesday afternoon, and will be installed at once, the Rev. A. G. Webbeking said today.

Supposed to have been ready to play by Easter, delays have occurred so that it may yet be several weeks before the bells are heard. The Taylor Bell Co. of Croydon, England, made the chimes at a cost of $7000.

A local committee headed by Andrew Edwards and Andrew Meyer will do the actual installing, after a Los Angeles firm raises them to the tower of the church. The church organist, E. T. Pingel, will play the bells from a manuel below the tower.

Recreation Topic At P.-T. A. Session

WESTMINSTER. — Mrs. Mae Finley, re-elected president of the P.-T. A., president at the closing meeting of the year in the school auditorium Monday evening.

A panel discussion on "Recreation" marked the evening program, with M. S. Harder speaking on adult recreation, Mrs. Hattie M. Palmer talking on recreation for girls and Sam Micelli discussing the subject of athletics as part of the recreational program.

A flute quartet composed of Paul Beatty, musical director of the school, and three of his pupils, Dorothy Murdy, Jessie Case and Clifford Osborne, were heard in a group of four numbers.

Mrs. McDaniel Is Feted at Party

WESTMINSTER.—Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McDaniel entertained a family party Sunday afternoon, the affair marking the occasion of Mrs. McDaniel's birthday anniversary.

SHE COMBS THE WORLD FOR PICTURES THAT THRILL

What Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer, said when Ralph Martin asked if she found a difference in cigarettes

STEEL MILLS, lumber camps, dams, skyscrapers, coal mines, subways (as above)—appeal to Margaret Bourke-White. She has gone all over the United States, into far countries. And her photographs are now internationally famous for their vigor and interest. They're different! And that's the same remark that Miss Bourke-White made about Camels to Ralph Martin at the New York World's Fair grounds (right).

MISS BOURKE-WHITE, like most modern women, likes dancing and the theatre. "And," she says, "I have Camels with me. Camels make a big difference in smoking."

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER "CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!"

Leading growers tell their preference in cigarettes—it's Camel!
"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco," tobacco planters say

"I've been planting tobacco for twenty years," says Harry C. King. "Camel bought the choice lots of my last crop—paid more for my best tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camels—a mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Vertner Hatton, who has grown tobacco 25 years. "The Camel people pay more for our better tobaccos. Last crop they took my finest grades. I smoke Camels—I know no substitute for expensive tobaccos. Most planters favor Camels."

"It's a fact Camel uses costlier tobaccos," says Floyd Smither, who knows tobacco from the ground up. "Last year I grew a handsome crop. Camel bought up my best leaf tobacco. I smoke Camels—so do most planters hereabouts. I know the quality tobacco in them."

New York Houseguest Is Feted

To introduce her houseguest, Mrs. William Taylor Stearns of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon yesterday entertained at the first of a trio of intimate little luncheon parties in her home on South Sycamore street. Mrs. Stearns arrived Wednesday after first spending several weeks with her daughter in Connecticut, and anticipates a visit here of several months.

Mrs. Haddon's home was literally a bower of lovely blossoms yesterday, all of them sent in by friends. Exceptionally lovely were the calla lilies sent by Mrs. H. T. Dunning, the nasturtiums from Mrs. Anna James, the roses from Mrs. James L. Allen, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, and Mrs. Glenn Warner, the iris and sweetpeas from Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, and the snapdragons and iris from Mrs. R. C. Hoiles.

At the close of the afternon the hostess presented table prizes of dainty Japanese lemon dishes with their own forks that had been brought from the Orient by her son, Johnston Haddon, to high scorers at each table. Winners thus rewarded were Mrs. Mark B. Lacy, Mrs. Catherine Herr, Mrs. George Sattler, and Mrs. Will Flood of Pasadena.

Out-of-town guests of Mrs. Haddon were Mrs. Flood, Mrs. E. R. Gregory of Beverly Hills, and Mrs. Charles Lewis of Puente. To the latter was paid a subtle compliment, for Mrs. Haddon copied the dainty table centerpieces of pansies and oat-stems that had been illustrated at a delightful luncheon and flower arrangement talk given by Mrs. Lewis last week.

Seventy-Five Entertained By Hostesses

Mrs. Arthur Lyon and Mrs. Charles Druitt were co-hostesses at a delightful luncheon yesterday at which they entertained seventy-five guests in lovely Hotel Laguna. Assisting in hostess duties were Mrs. Lewis Moulton, Mrs. Elmer Burns, Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mrs. Anton Segerstrom, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. Ralph Mosher, and Mrs. Helen Heil, and to thank them for the courtesy, Mrs. Lyon and Mrs. Druitt presented each with a pretty pottery flower bowl.

A graceful Hawaiian flower motif was carried out at the long luncheon tables, with blue cornflowers and yellow daisies strung on bamboo and branching prettily from a long bark receiver. Golden tulips and iris and other spring flowers were used equally effectively.

At the close of the afternoon the hostesses presented table prizes of pottery bowls to Mrs. A. J. Lasby, Mrs. Coralyn Thompson, Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Mrs. John L. Wehrly, Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, Miss Bess Wood, Miss Mary Thompson, Mrs. J. S. Smart, Mrs. William Grey, Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mrs. Joseph Metzgar, Mrs. F. G. Hoxie, Mrs. E. T. Morrow, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, and Mrs. Oliver Halsell.

BEAUCEANT MEMBERS PLAN SPRING BRIDGE

Santa Ana assembly No. 61 of the Social Order of the Beauceant met in the Masonic temple for a covered dish noon luncheon preceding their regular business meeting. The tables were decorated with vases of sweet peas and a bouquet of old fashioned mixed flowers from the garden of Mrs. Henry Diers.

Mrs. John H. Shaw, president, presided over the business meeting held in the lodge room. Guests present to be escorted were Mrs. J. Joseph Smith, past supreme worthy president; Mrs. James M. Hilton, Mrs. Frank H. Whitman, Mrs. Clarence B. Schmuck and Mrs. Carlton K. Wakelee, all of Pasadena.

Mrs. Arthur Koepsel, one of the officers of the lodge who was injured in an auto accident, was reported to be improving. Plans were made for a public dessert bridge luncheon to be held May 18 at 1:15 p. m. at the temple. Plans were also discussed for the official visit of the supreme worthy president, Mrs. James E. Collier of Dodge City, Kan., in June. Mrs. Biers read a lovely poem in commemoration of Mother's day.

A number of members plan to visit the Pasadena assembly Monday and the Glendale assembly Wednesday.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS OBSERVED AT DINNER

On the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ball were guests of honor at a delightful gathering and dinner at their home near Bolsa Sunday.

A score of guests were present at the affair, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamlyn of Laguna, Donald Ball of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Ball and daughter, Marjorie, of Santa Ana.

Following the presentation of gifts, approprite toasts and speeches were made. Movies and still pictures of the principals and guests were tken following the dinner by Mr. Hamlyn for the family archives. The couple were married at Canaan, Ohio, May 3, 1888.

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

Dear Mary Hampton: I am to graduate from high school in June. My problem is to get clothes for Baccalaureate and graduation which will tie in with the things I already have. And whatever I pick I must be able to wear later this summer in Los Angeles or Oakland.—We decided to wear dressy sport for graduation in a pastel shade and we will not use hat, gloves or bag. For Baccalaureate we may wear anything we would ordinarily wear to church.

I can make a new slip for a formal I have and use it alright for the Prom—for I have a very limited amount to spend. I hope I have not taken too much of your time and I would like to write again this fall and have your help with my winter clothes. R.

Dear R.—After studying the wardrobe list which you enclosed with your letter, I think new dark blue sandals will be the thing—with a blue straw cartwheel too, although this is not for graduation, of course. With your fair coloring it would be so charming to pick a frock in palest dusty pink to wear with the blue sandals—and a blue sash or belt. The shops are full of sport frocks, or, as I prefer to call them, "California frocks," which are everything from zippered up the front to plaited, and quite dressy. And you can get a nice quality synthetic—which looks like gorgeous silk—and washes perfectly! That is for graduation. Then for Baccalaureate your white sharkskin suit is a fine idea. It is just possible you can get a frock with jacket, which is even nicer for summer. And it would be dashing to have a polka dotted navy silk—or other smart, small-patterned print, for a collar and dress sash—along, again, with the brimmed blue hat and blue sandals. And I shall love helping you with your fall plans. MARY HAMPTON.

Dear Mrs. J. L. H.: I am a little afraid that berry red accessories have too blue a tone to go with these salmon-pink costumes of yours The only way to really find out, however, is try them. But if they do not look perfect, then there is the possibility of navy which looks very rich supplementing pink—sandals and bag. Then if you could, it would be too, too stunning to get a straw cartwheel in still paler pink with a vague plaid line of navy running through the straw. I think it might be ordered—and you can afford to splurge a bit on even this budget on the hat! Anyhow look for blue and pink combined. Then when you get the blue dress there can be a pink print trimming it or something like that.

About blouses for this pale pink suit, let one be navy blue polka dot—another dusty pink to match in frilly bastiste or organdie. Then how about a striped cotton lisle pull-over? MARY HAMPTON.

Socialites Plan Annual Garden Tour Saturday

Of major interest to Santa Anans this week have been plans for the annual garden tour sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. this Saturday from 2 until 5 o'clock. Shown above are seven prominent women who are heading activities concerned with it. Gathered in the patio-garden of Mrs. C. F. Smith's lovely home on Heliotrope drive and Nineteenth streets are, from left to right, Mrs. M. B. Wellington, general chairman; Mrs. William Spurgeon, Miss Mary Ford, Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Mrs. Braden Finch, Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, and Mrs. Horace Stevens. Their arrangements call for a tea at the Victoria drive home of Mrs. Hugh Gerrard to conclude the affair, which will take in nine lovely gardens.

CELEBRANT OF TOMORROW IS HONORED

The 81st birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. A. Douglas will occur tomorrow, but already she has had a fitting celebration, for her two daughters, Mrs. W. B. McConnell and Mrs. Adelaide Seib, and the former's daughter-in-law, Mrs. George McConnell, gave a charming party at the latter's home Wednesday in her honor.

Roses and sweetpeas, many of them brought by the guests, made a lovely background for the affair, which was climaxed by the appearance of a cake on which were 81 lighted candles. At intervals Mrs. George McConnell sang solos, the group sang, and appropriate readings were given by Mrs. Ida Martin and Mrs. Nellie Mallery.

Present at the affair were four great-grandchild of the honoree Noraleen and Charles, children of the George McConnells, and Lucy Ann and Warren, children of the Herbert McConnells.

Other guests, all members of Mrs. Douglas' Sunday school class at the Christian Missionary Alliance church, were the Mesdames James Bramleigh, George Lounsbury, C. N. Turner, Edgar McGarvin, J. H. Thomas, Nellie Mallery, Basil Underwood, Lloyd Fowler, M. Knauss, Essie Corson, H. B. Eby, P. A. Kliever, Lillian Hoar, Anna Walker, D. F. Potter, Charles Yelding, Ida Martin, Amy Evans, William Haller, Gladys Buck, I. Townsend, C. D. Hicks, Gladys Wakefield, Miss Sallie Correll, Miss Kate Wendelken, Barbara Ann and David Underwood, and Laura Mae and Martha Haller.

MARYWOOD GIRLS IN PARADE OF LATEST FASHIONS

A lovely fashion show was presented last night by Marywood school seniors at the school social hall in Anaheim, with more than 120 guests present. A wide variety of clothes ranging from strict sports to fluffy formals which were worn by the models, were secured through the courtesy of Mrs. Jack Corn.

Miss Angela Callens, chairman of the committee of senior girls in charge, was assisted by the Misses Louise Ann Truxaw, Jean Heying, Kathleen Burkhard and Euda McIntyre. Models for the show were the Misses Grace Eadington, Laura Belle Quarton and Miss Callens, Miss Heying, Miss Truxaw and Miss Burkhard.

Refreshments were served to guests following the parade of fashions at a table decorated with spring flowers. The Misses Catherine Ameche and Josephine Clos poured.

LOVELY PARTY GIVEN BY TWO HOSTESSES

The home of Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, 1916 North Flower street, was scene of a beautiful May party this week when she was joined by Mrs. Cyrus Lurker in hostess duties. They were assisted in serving luncheon by Mrs. Fred Pope and Mrs. I. D. Wallingford.

Small wicker May baskets filled with tiny orchid blossoms centered small tables, and a large bowl of orchid and yellow iris graced the dining room table, flanked by yellow tapers.

After a session of contract high score prizes were given Mrs. A. E. Wallace and Mrs. Nelle Hunt, and consolation awards went to Mrs. Nell D. Winslow and Mrs. John Ketler.

Guests of the hostess-duo were the Mesdames A. N. Zerman, Charles Mitchell, Maggie Mae Reed, Nelle Hunt, J. F. Jacoby, George Shipe, George Richardson, Edith Snow, Anna James, Cy Perkins, W. W. Hyde, Harriet Anderson, A. E. Wallace, Jean Trueblood, Nell D. Winslow, John Ketler, Josh Pyle, Clarence Orton, Fred Pope, I. D. Wallingford, P. N. Chapin of Glendale, and Berta Berry of Los Angeles.

MOTORCYCLE CLUB PLANS SPRING EVENTS

The Black and White Motorcycle club met Wednesday evening at Felkner ranch, Tustin with T. W. Atkinson, vice president, presiding in the absence of Ralph Dearing, president, who is away until the first of July.

All members are asked to meet at Rathbun's store at 10 a. m. next Sunday to attend a hill climb at Porters ranch in North Hollywood on Ventura boulevard. Members are to meet the following Sunday at 10:30 a. m. at the same place from where they will leave to attend the track races at South Ascot.

Next Wednesday nights meeting at Felkner ranch will be the time when plans for the annual June picnic will be made. Following the business meeting, dancing and supper will ensue.

INSTRUCTION GIVEN AT COUNCIL MEET

With 150 in attendance, Santa Ana Council of Parent-Teacher Associations this week featured a school of instruction led by Mrs. H. Hildebrand, standards chairman. Mrs. James Givens presided in the president's chair.

Featured were talks on specific duties of each association's chairmen, and representatives from each took notes on correct procedure as illustrated by Mrs. Harry Le Bard, membership; Mrs. O. V. Barton, programs; Mrs. R. G. Bond, publicity; Mrs. Harry Becker, finances and budget; Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, P.-T. A. magazine; Mrs. R. E. Steinberger, hospitality; and Mrs. Horace Lee, summer roundups.

Announcement was made of a special Play Day May 12 from 1 to 3 p. m. for prospective junior high schoolers, at John Muir school.

MRS. KINGSBURY IS HOSTESS

Mrs. Everett Kingsbury was hostess to her card club Tuesday evening at her home, 1409 Martha Lane, and at the close of the card session awarded prizes to Dorcas Hendrie and Mrs. Warren Webb.

Enjoying a late refreshment course were Mrs. Paul Patton, Mrs. Roy Yoder, Mrs. Warren Webb, Mrs. Everett Montgomery, Mrs. E. Lacy, Mrs. May Luckie, Dorcas Hendrie, and the hostess.

RETURN FROM HONEYMOON

After a honeymoon spent in Nevada following their wedding their April 28 at Las Vegas, Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Schultz are now at home at 206 North Ross street.

The bride is the former Miss Grace Oline Capps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Capps, 115 East Pine street, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Sara Schultz, 320 South Broadway. He is employed at the Empire market.

BUSY MONTH AHEAD FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

The month of May will be both merry and busy for Santa Ana Woman's club members. Garden section is scheduled to be in charge of a flower display with each club member bringing some plant, flower, or floral arrangement to make the colorful setting which will be the background for the May 17 meeting, with Mrs. R. L. Pagett, garden section chairman, in charge.

Next Monday noon brings a Philanthropy section picnic meeting at Santiago park in place of their regularly stated meeting. Past presidents will meet on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins. Poetry section will meet with Mrs. J. E. Braden Tuesday. Homecraft section will join Philanthropy members on their Monday supervised picnic and will elect new officers. Mrs. E. A. Elwell at 5487-R is taking reservations.

The ways and means committee benefit party will be held at Veterans hall the 19th, at which time bridge, anagrams, and other games will be played, with Mrs. E. R. Lepper heading the committee. Evening Social section has chosen May 21 for a 6:30 o'clock outdoor steak bake in Jack Fisher park to be followed by an evening of bridge at the home of Mrs. G. W. Paes. Study section will hold a 12:30 p. m. picnic May 25 at Fisher park for a covered dish lunch. Reservations for this affair are being taken by Mrs. P. R. Arnold.

PIANO PUPILS GIVE RECITAL

Highlight of their year's intensive study of technique was a pianoforte recital given this week by pupils of Carolyn Haughton at the Ebell clubhouse.

Each of the young students displayed excellent technical skill in their classical and modern selections. Participating were Donald Platz, Audrey Harrell, Mary Stem, Roberta Benedict, Janice Sargent, Ruth Joyce Stevens, Billy Haughton, Joan Forgy, James Power, Genevieve Straw, Marjorie Metzgar, Jack Northrup, Jean Stem, Marilyn Klentz, Donna June Cocking, Ruth Townsend, Gertrude Yount, Nancy Standring, Jean Yale, Virginia Adams, Betty Jane Sanborn, Carolyn Wells, and Mae Renfer.

CHURCH GROUPS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Both the Woman's Home Missionary society and the Associated Women of the First Methodist Episcopal church elected officers Wednesday for the new church year which starts in June.

Mrs. Henry Guthrie was re-elected president of the Home Missionary group and her staff of officers elected were Mrs. George Townsend, first vice-president; Mrs. W. B. Snow, second vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Walker, recording secretary; Mrs. Daisy Williams, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, treasurer.

Mrs. John Flack, educational secretary; Mrs. S. M. Davis, mite-box; Mrs. Carhart, spiritual life; Mrs. Kuhne, Christian citizenship; Miss Lenore Tompkins, music; Mrs. Theo. Winbigler, Mrs. F. Wiesseman, Mrs. Jeffery and Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, finance committee; Mrs. Grace Grigsby, Mrs. Leach, Mrs. Sara Keller, nostess committee; Mrs. Leo Meyers and Mrs. McGuillan, membership committee.

Mrs. Clarence Bond was elected president of Associated women, and her board of officers was composed of Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, vice-president; Mrs. T. E. Hayden, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Fox, treasurer.

Chairman for the program of the day presented before Associated women was Miss Mary Lamb. The program consisted of devotions conducted by Mrs. Carhart as a tribute to mothers. An address was given by Mrs. George Angne on Good Will Industries.

Reports from district meetings held recently in Fullerton and San Diego were given by Miss Mary Lamb. A mite-box demonstration entitled "Holding Up the Light" was participated in by the Mesdames W. B. Snow, Frank Hildebrand, Irma DeBarr, Richard Howland, John Flack and Guy Gilbert.

A book review was given by Miss Ethel Walker, of the Santa Ana public library, of the volume "You Have Seen Their Faces" by Erskine Caldwell and Margaret Bourke-White, dealing with the problems of share-croppers in the south.

A piano solo, adagio movement from a Hayden sonata was played by Miss Marjorie White. Circle No. 9, under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Kittleson, served the noon luncheon which was enjoyed by those present.

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED TO SORORITY

Phi Omega sorority meeting held at Daniger's Wednesday evening served as a fitting occasion for Miss Gertrude Vaughn, president, and daughter of Mrs. Eva Vaughn of 525 East Washington street, to announce her engagement to John A. Conlisk, son of Mrs. May Conlisk of Long Beach.

In the five-pound box of candy passed by Miss Vaughn, the wedding date was announced as June 18. The bride-to-be graduated from high school here, attended junior college for a time and then went to business school. She is now employed in a local typewriter firm. Mr. Conlisk is with the telephone company in the beach city, and the young couple plan to make their home there.

Mothers of members were honored at the Mothers' day party, which was followed by an evening of cards. Refreshments were served at a table decorated with spring flowers and candles, and the guest ate the delicious refreshments by candlelight. Gardenia corsages were presented to the mothers at the beginning of the evening. Miss Vaughn pinned the corsages on the mothers with the assistance of Miss Helen Fine.

Present for the affair were members, the Misses Jean Upshall, Gertrude Vaughn, Hazel Oliphant, Phyllis Hefke, Ruth McBurney, Myrna Brooks, Helen Fine; and the Mesdames Lester Boyle, Ronald Vincent, James Van Shoiack, Charles White, jr. Guest mothers present were the Mesdames V. F. Dunham, Eva Vaughn, Charles Tibbetts, K. R. Nelson, W. B. Oliphant, A. C. Hefke, Charles White, W. R. McBurney, Grace Brooks and Walter Fine.

Miss Bodman To Wed Ray Lindeman

Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Jeanette Bodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bodman of Newport Beach, and Ray Lindeman, son of the late Mrs. Wade Warner of Santa Ana, was made last night at a meeting of Miss Bodman's sorority, Sigma Tau Psi. No wedding date was announced by the couple who now are engaged in building a new home in San Marino. Mr. Lindeman is associated with the law firm of O'Melveny, Fuller and Myer in Los Angeles.

Taking necessarily second place in the evening's interest after the traditional chocolates had been passed was formal installation of new officers, when Mrs. Terry Stephenson, jr., assumed the presidency; Miss Charlotte Barker, the secretaryship; Miss Virginia Graves, the treasurership, and Miss Genevieve Glover, the position of reporter and pledge-mistress.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

Installation of new officers was featured at a meeting of Calvary missionary society at the home of Mrs. J. B. Ramsey, 1901 North Baker street, this week. Mrs. William Jones assumed the presidency of Mrs. John Sutherland, and other new officers are Mrs. C. E. Goodner, Mrs. Charles Smith, and Mrs. Ivy Olson, vice-presidents; Mrs. C. E. Smith, secretary; and Mrs. George Boyer, treasurer.

Mrs. Sutherland was presented with a lovely quilt as token of appreciation from the group. Mrs. A. R. Marshall served as hostess chairman for the day, assisted by Mrs. Donald Kyle, and Mrs. William Jones.

POWDER FOUND AS CURE FOR HEMOPHILIA ILLS

By JANE STAFFORD
Science Service Medical Writer
Copyright, 1938, Science Service

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — A powder from beef blood which stops dangerous bleeding in hemophilia was reported by Drs. Frederick J. Pohle and F. H. L. Taylor, of Harvard Medical school and Boston City hospital, at the meeting here of the American Society for Clinical Investigation.

The ever-present danger to a person suffering from hemophilia is the fact that his blood clots so slowly he may bleed to death from a small cut. The condition is hereditary, affecting only males but being transmitted through the mother.

The powdered substance from beef blood checked bleeding from external wounds and following tooth extractions in five hemophilia sufferers, Drs. Pohle and Taylor reported. The substance itself is a protein called globulin and was obtained from the fluid or plasma of beef blood. It is only effective when applied as a powder to the bleeding surface. It failed to hasten the clotting of the hemophiliac's blood when given by mouth, or to stop bleeding when used locally in solution.

This life-saving material, the scientists pointed out, is not yet available in large enough amounts for general distribution.

Here and There With Southern California Artists

CONCERTINA

April showers bring May flowers!

May plans bring fall fruits, and if enough planning is done, Pinza will usher in our golden shower of music that is the Orange County Concert course.

A meeting Wednesday night of this week of the Musical Arts club together with prominent civic and club people brought us up sharp to realize that now is the time for action.

Now is the time to keep your thinking from the summer moth-balls long enough to guarantee Orange county concerts by internationally recognized artists actually come to being next winter!

Now is the time to realize that we are all part of a metropolitan area-for-culture that knows no city or town lines, no party affiliations, nor subscribe to religious credo!

Now, not tomorrow, but now is the time to find out how closely you can come to really being not only a Santa Ana resident, but a true Orange county citizen.

Frankly, the means is this.

Santa Ana concert courses of the past two seasons have operated at a deficit. Behymer began to think of abandoning his program for Santa Ana, until there came the realization that a concert series held in Santa Ana could serve the whole county.

1000 loyal Orange county citizens who can overlook the little things to get at the big, and worthwhile, things are needed as season subscribers to what will then be a six-concert program.

Are you one of them?

* * *

The program is more than interesting.

If a thousand subscribers are secured (and I see no reason to prevent when the roses have been cleared away), Pinza, the glorious Pinza will open the series with an early fall concert!

Pinza in Santa Ana? Yes, if there are a thousand of you that really care enough for music to bring him here!

The Tipica orchestra, the Curtis quartet (which enjoyed the patronage of Mrs. Bok), Kathryn Meisle, and Casadesus, the French pianist (who has appeared with 14 U. S. major symphonies this past season) follow in rapid succession to preface the appearance of Nino Martini, golden voice of radio, concert and screen.

So far as I can see there is no Don Cossack chorus or Ted Shawn dance group in the bag.

The equinal utterances of Meisle are adequately compensated for by Pinza on the one hand, Martini on the other.

The concert course thus proposed is a real challenge to Orange county.

What make we of it?

I have long urged concerts and exhibitions of real worth served best when they were not too difficult to get at.

The projects series eliminates time and fatigue attendant upon a long drive that a Los Angeles concert necessitates.

It makes possible music of high value to many who do not feel justified in adding transportation to admission costs.

Will you do your part? Get on the bandwagon! Subscribe!

MARIE CROWE

Marie Crowe has flower paintings at the Women's University club, Los Angeles.

I wish she had chosen to show her stronger, more widely appealing landscapes, for that, I feel, is her forte.

At any rate, she has a strong design sense, and should you be going that way, it will be worth all the while.

DATE BOOK

Events of Horse Show Week ought now to go in your date book, as it promises to be extremely brilliant.

Two exhibitions of national importance (since one is to be the work of Millard Sheets and the other to have two works by Milford Zornes) are scheduled.

The Library will don festive dress for the very-important showing of Millard Sheets' work (opening Monday, May 16th), while a space in the Santa Ana hotel will be given over to the showing of locally-owned paintings.

Jean Goodwin, Katherine Knox and Robert Gilbert are local painters being represented.

An especially brilliant feature will be Donald Forbes' "Los Remedios," which has come straight from New York to a local collector in time for this exhibition.

For music, there's the concert of the work of Orange County Composers at Willard auditorium the night of May 17th.

The Federal Orchestra is to take part. Local composers will include Clarence Gustlin, Alan Revill, Earl Fraser, Beulah Parker and the writer.

And apart from my own participation (a very minor contribution and only under duress) it will be an interesting evening.

The program bears the enthusiastic approval of Harold Walberg, Fullerton orchestra leader, for its sponsoring the work of living composers.

It is being sponsored by the Musical Arts club.

I venture to say you won't want to miss hearing it!

MARY STODDARD

Girl Is Practically Paralyzed in Presence of Strangers

"What causes shyness," queries "Esther L." and "what is the cure for it, if there is any?"

She goes on to say that it seems silly to be afraid to talk in the presence of a group, or strangers, but that is her problem and a very real one, too, as she is practically paralyzed at times:

Shyness is not really fear of other people, Esther, but fear of ourselves. It is a stumbling block raised by our own imaginations that trips us when we try to become all that we were intended to be. But fortunately for us, it is not too large a block to be pushed from our paths—if we are of the disposition to push instead of stumble.

If you are shy to the extent of being miserable in a crowd, or unable to carry on a conversation with a newly made acquaintance, the real reason is because you are too much concerned with yourself. This may sound a bit absurd to you at first, but if you will stop and analyze your feelings you will discover this is true. In your mind, a stranger is a critical audience, instead of an ordinary human being very much like yourself, just different enough to be interesting. Now, honestly, isn't that the reason you feel uncomfortable?

Naturally, such a one is greatly handicapped in life. Most of the people she meets will never get to know her. From necessity they will judge her by the timid, frightened shadow they are permitted to see.

Wise indeed is the girl who forces herself to overcome this as early as possible.

How can this paralyzing shyness be overcome? By strict discipline.

Instead of all that "I" thinking, the person who is trying to push the shyness aside, should think about other people, try to find out what they are like, talk about their interests, receive whatever of value they have to give.

Forgetfulness of self comes when we invest our interest in others. It helps, too, if we work so hard at some one thing that we finally excel in it.

That gives us faith in our own worth and lends us the assurance that we do have a real place in the world.

NEW FINDINGS MAY AID RADIO BROADCASTERS

Copyright, 1938, Science Service

WASHINGTON. — Which way you talk depends on whether you talk tenor or bass, it was indicated in the report presented at a meeting of the Acoustical society here by research engineers H. K. Dunn and D. W. Farnsworth of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, N. Y.

To learn more about the peculiarities of speech and its relation to placement of microphones in broadcasting studios, the engineers studied the pressure spectrum of speech in 80 positions about the head of a subject using normal conversation. They were thus able to find out the directional properties of the mouth and head as a sound radiator.

Even though the head was fixed, the direction of strongest radiation of the voice was found not to be the same in all cases. The strongest radiation was, of course, to the front but it varied from somewhat above the horizontal to an angle of 45 degrees below the horizontal, depending on the frequency range studied. Thus a deep bass voice of low frequency will send its sounds in a different direction than a high-pitched voice.

All this is important to the placement of microphones to give best pickup in radio or sound motion picture studios.

The unnatural reproduction encountered when a microphone is placed too close to the speaker was found to be caused by the extraneous sound frequencies introduced when the air-stream from the lips struck the microphone.

Britain Develops Fuel Saving Plan

GLASGOW. (AP)—If war comes, Britain will power her vehicles with gas as far as possible, conserving gasoline for military use.

Two methods are being developed — self-generating fuel plants fed by charcoal or coke and carried on the vehicle; bottles of gas which have to be replaced after they are exhausted.

Buses equipped with each type are already in operation.

The fuel plants are being manufactured in Glasgow.

The first of a chain of public filling stations for gas-driven vehicles was opened recently at Chesterfield.

One-Man Labor Union Calls Himself Out on Strike But He Refuses to Picket

ONE-MAN STRIKE

CUMBERLAND, Md.—Harry W. Young called himself out on strike.

Young, only butcher at a market, is business manager of the local union, and as such authorized his walkout protesting payment of non-union wages—to Young.

"I'm not going to picket," he said.

LOST AND FOUND

SPOKANE.—Mrs. Belle Wilson of Chicago couldn't find a piece of property here on which she had been paying taxes five years.

She appealed to city officials, who discovered the land now is part of a highway.

The city commission voted Mrs. Wilson a tax refund and a purchase price of $100.

BOO!

DENVER. — Patrolmen James Krisl and H. P. McKinney slogged through a chilly wet rain for an hour looking for an auto theft suspect. Dripping wet, they returned to their car.

There, warm and dry, sat the suspect.

"I've come to give myself up. It was wet outside, so I climbed in," he said.

PIN-MONEY

CHICAGO. — Student Joseph Higgs of the Northwestern university law school is selling recitation insurance.

Policies pay off in case the professor calls on any of Higgs' clients to recite. The investment is 50 cents. If the insured student must recite the return is $3.50. And there is always that chance, Higgs says, that the student may get the cash and the right answer, too.

DETECTIVE FOR A DAY

CHICAGO.—James Grimes was walking home from a police station, where he had gone to report the theft of his car, when he passed three men rolling an automobile wheel down the street.

"Would you like to buy a good wheel?" one of them asked Grimes. He recognized it as belonging to his car, notified police, saw the men arrested, and found the rest of his car in an alley.

TOO MUCH IRON

CRANBROOK, B. C. — When doctors operated on Mrs. Aloysius Simons here to find the cause of her indigestion they found she nad been eating too much iron—23 six-inch spikes too much. She was unable to explain how she swallowed them.

PLANES WEIGHING 1000 TONS NOT IMPOSSIBLE SAYS EXPERT

NEW YORK.—Engineering difficulties will not stand in the way of building 1000-ton flying clippers a few years from now, according to Igor I. Sikorsky, noted airplane designer credited with building the first multi-motored aircraft.

Such planes will be easily within the range of engineering, but may not be economical to build because of the difficulty in getting traffic to fill them, Sikorsky believes. He predicts traffic requirements will replace science as the determining factor in limiting the size of planes.

"In the next few years 100-ton seaplanes will be crossing the Atlantic in 20 hours for regularly scheduled airline flights," said Sikorsky.

"Later planes may be able to fly at an altitude between 75,000 and 90,000 feet, and travel from 500 to 600 miles an hour," the airplane designer declared. Those would be the limits, he said, "unless a new type of motor using a different source of energy is invented."

Barber Has Proof Opportunity Raps Even in Recession

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A year ago E. B. Bridgewater, Phoenix barber, offered to turn over his shop to any man who had been on relief four years.

Bridgewater said yesterday he hadn't had a single applicant, and concluded there must be "too much work" attached to his offer.

"My offer is still good," Bridgewater said as he kept busy in his little neighborhood shop. "I made it to prove that a man of initiative and energy can support himself and family in times like these. I still believe it."

When not busy barbering, Bridgewater gives violin lessons. He offered, too, to give his classes and loan his violin to a musician on relief four years. There was no response.

"I made the offers," he explained, "because I wanted to prove to my sons that there still is plenty of opportunity in this country for a man who is willing to look for work."

YANKWICH RAPS LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES' LAWLESS METHODS

TOTAL ECLIPSE VISIBLE HERE NEXT FRIDAY

(Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)

If, when you are coming home in the small hours of the night one week from tonight, you notice that the moon has a coppery red color, you needn't be alarmed. It will not be a result of your dissipation, for the moon will be going through a total eclipse, as it penetrates the shadow of the earth.

Whenever the moon is full, it is almost on the side of the earth opposite the sun. Usually the three bodies are not accurately in line, and the moon goes above or below the long, tapering shadow. In the early morning hours of May 14, however, the moon will enter the shadow, and most of the sunlight which falls upon it will be cut off. Not completely dark is the shadow, as the earth's atmosphere has a prism-like effect, bending the sun's rays into it. As these rays traverse the air, blue light is extracted, to give the daytime sky its color. The light that passes through is redder than usual, and falls on the eclipsed moon, to give the coppery hue.

The first phase of the eclipse will occur at 12:44 a. m., E. S. T., when the moon enters the penumbra, the outer part of the earth's shadow. Soon after this, an observer on the moon would see the earth's disc beginning to encroach upon that of the sun. After about an hour, terrestrial observers will notice that the eastern edge of the moon is rather dark. Then at 1:57 a. m., the moon begins to enter the inner shadow, curved because it is cast by a spherical earth, will creep across the moon, until 3:18 a. m., when the eclipse is total. At 4:09 a. m. the moon will start to emerge from the shadow, and again its curved edge will crawl across the moon. At 5:31 a. m., the moon will be completely out of the umbra.

I Just Found Out
About Doing Business

—By— MILLARD BROWNE

For the privilege of doing business with nearly 45,000 Santa Anans, some 2000 business establishments contribute more than $45,000 a year to the city's coffers—but it isn't by any means on a share-and-share-alike basis.

* * *

Because one establishment pays $220 to do business here, and there are 23 men in town who are charged only $1 each. The $220-a-year firm is a retail store; the $1-a-year men are taxi-drivers, who have the lowest license fee in Santa Ana. Owners of taxis don't get off as easy as the drivers, though. They pay $20 annually ($5 a quarter) on each cab.

* * *

Santa Ana's license regulations are so complicated it takes a whole booklet full of city ordinances to keep them straight. They're amended frequently, too, usually on petition of certain types of businesses asking either an increase or decrease.

* * *

Businessmen are more likely to petition for an increase in the license fee, presumably to keep competition out. Toughest license restriction is on plumbers, who must pay $100 a year in advance for the privilege of doing business.

* * *

The city's 2000 licensed businesses are divided into 234 different classifications. Biggest classification is apartments and rooms, with 166 separate businesses paying varying fees depending on the number of rooms or apartments. All but four motels are listed as apartments.

* * *

Second biggest classification is service stations (95), and grocery stores (87) are next in number. There are 23 manufacturers, same number of wholesalers, 57 attorneys and only 54 physicians (not counting 19 chiropractors and nine osteopaths).

* * *

Except for individual semi-public servants (like barbers, beauticians, etc.) who pay $1 a quarter, the minimum 'cense fee is $3 a quarter, payable the first of every January, April, July, October. If they're not paid by the 10th, a 50-cent penalty is added, and on the 30th the price is doubled.

* * *

All professional men — doctors, lawyers, real estate brokers, architects, etc.—pay the minimum $3 a quarter. Retail stores are divided into two groups, both of which are charged a minimum, plus another fee based on gross sales for the preceding year.

* * *

First group is retail food stores, which get by on the minimum unless sales go over $10,000. Highest fee charged is $15 a quarter for annual sales of between $200,000 and $250,000 (only one Santa Ana grocery store pays $15 a quarter). All other retailers come in the second group, pay slightly more for corresponding sales. (A $200,000 business would cost $30 a quarter, and one local firm pays $55, City Clerk E. L. Vegely reveals, mentioning no names.)

* * *

Wholesalers and manufacturers pay a $6 minimum, can do $100,000 worth of business for that. The rate goes up to a maximum of $42 a quarter for a $1,000,000-a-year outfit. Trucks and wagons also have a $6 quarterly minimum for making deliveries to retailers.

* * *

License ordinances distinguish between delivery business (which has 31 separate classifications) and house-to-house peddling, which costs $36 a year, payable in advance.

* * *

Though city taxis and buses are licensed, inter-city transportation systems (Motor Transit, Pacific Greyhound, P. E., and railroads) are exempt, since they operate on a state franchise. Only other exemptions are disabled veterans.

* * *

Among the utilities, the telephone company is the only one that doesn't pay a city license. It's because the others all have something to sell at retail (gas and electric appliances). Telegraph companies usually pay $25 a year for a special license to deliver samples.

* * *

License fees, primarily for revenue ($41,687.70 during fiscal 1937), in most cases are not intended to frighten away business. They do dispose of most fly-by-nights, though, and Vegely is constantly surprised by the small turnover in his license accounts.

* * *

Just to be sure no transient businesses are evading the tax, License Inspectors Earl Lentz and William Garvin are employed full-time to check up.

DISTRICT JUDGE EXPOSES OTHER SIDE OF 'LAW'

Law enforcement agencies themselves employ lawless methods in carrying out the law, United States District Judge Leon R. Yankwich charged in an address before members of the Santa Ana citizen's forum.

The Wickersham commission, he pointed out, and other such groups have brought to light various methods of enforcement which are unlawful. These fall into four classifications. They are: The abuses of the rights of arrest, violations of the search and seizure clauses of the state and federal constitution in looking for evidence, violations of the constitutional guarantees against self-incrimination and entrapment.

After tracing the protection against search and seizure from the Magna Carta, Yankwich came to the conclusion that this merely means that the citizen is protected against unreasonable search. A man who is being searched illegally may resist and he may also have a remedy against the officer committing the act, Yankwich related. However, the remedy is more or less illusory, he concluded.

One of the most important guarantes is the constitutional guaranty that no person should be compelled to be a witness against himself in a criminal case, Yankwich said. This rule is violated by various third degree methods by which officers obtain confessions, he contends. Such confessions of guilt obtained by the use of physical force or through threats and inducements are frowned upon by the courts, he pointed out.

As to arrest, Yankwich believes the rights of the officers are great and when an officer has reasonable ground to believe that a felony has been committed, he may arrest without a warrant. A violation of this may subject him to a charge of false imprisonment. However, the law protects the officer and if he has reasonable ground for suspecting a person of the commission of a felony, he will be protected.

"A subtle development of police technique has been entrapment," Yankwich stated. "Entrapment means that officers knowing a person is about to commit a crime, may facilitate or aid in its commission by affording an opportunity for its commission and laying traps for the offender."

The dividing line between permissible entrapment and solicitation is not always very distinct, in Yankwich's opinion. From a practical standpoint, he said, it is quite true that often, without the entrapment, the offense would not have been committed. Thus, the action of the officers, even in ordinary cases, is ethically doubtful, and grave injustice may result from it.

Judge Yankwich called attention to the fact that ultimately the remedy for lawless enforcement lies in the enforcing forces themselves. The very strength of our system, he feels, lies in their observance.

WHAT'S WHAT ABOUT TRAFFIC

By H. C. MEEHAN
Captain, Orange County Unit, California Highway Patrol

A great many motorists are very lax with respect to hand signals, and violations often have led to serious accidents. We had one accident recently in this county caused in this way: Car A, driving in the right-hand lane, made a left turn at an intersection and attempted to make the turn without first having given a signal. Car B, driving in the second lane, struck car A. Two people were badly injured, and the only reason someone was not killed was because neither vehicle was being driven at a high rate of speed.

Two violations occurred in this accident—attempting a turn from the right-hand lane of traffic and also without making any signal.

* * *

In making a left-hand turn the vehicle should be placed just to the right of the center line of the street and hand signal should be given continuously 50 feet before making the turn. In a right turn the vehicle should be as near to the right-hand curb as possible, and the signal also should be given for 50 feet.

Section 544-A of the vehicle code provides, "No person shall turn a vehicle unless . . . such movement can be made with reasonable safety and then only after an appropriate signal . . . in the event that any other vehicle may be affected by such movement.

The next section, 544-B, provides "any signal of intention to turn right or left shall be given continuously during the last 50 feet . . ." and the following section says, "No person shall stop or suddenly decrease the speed of a vehicle without first giving an appropriate signal. . ."

* * *

Twenty-five per cent of all city accidents are caused by failure to make signals or improperly made signals. In making hand signals, be sure your signals will be understood. You are the only one who knows what you intend to do until you have made your signal.

The left-hand turn at an intersection is one of the most dangerous turns to make in traffic because cars often are approaching you from the opposite side of the street, and the drivers sometimes fail to see your signal.

Here is a good rule to remember, and while not entirely in accord with the vehicle code, it is a safe one to follow: When you change your direction of travel, you lose your right-of-way.

Let's take care of our signals, make them properly and often, and we will get rid of 25 per cent of city accidents!

Tustin Youth Wins Whittier Tuition

Robert Schostag, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Schostag of Tustin, is the winner of a tuition scholarship to Whittier college, it was announced today as results of a competitive examination were made known.

Schostag is a senior and president of the Tustin High school scholarship society, editor of the school newspaper, past student body president and a prominent member of the school orchestra.

Native Rocks Set For Vets Monument

Native rocks, to be gathered in the surrounding desert around Barstow, will form a 15-foot monument dedicated to the veterans of American wars, soon to be started by the Barstow post of the American Legion.

An illuminated water fountain will run over the structure.

FATHER, GIRLS AWARDED $2000

James C. Wylie and his two small daughters, Darlene Yvonne and Barbara Jean, today had judgment for $2091 damages and court costs against the Penn Transfer and Storage company, owner of a van parked at right-angles to a Sycamore street curb Jan. 30, 1937.

The Wylie car, in which the girls were passengers, struck the van, testimony showed, while the truck was extending into the street. Judge James L. Allen, who heard the two-day trial without a jury, awarded the damages yesterday afternoon. The Wylies were represented by John Martell and Donald Harwood; and Kenneth J. Murphy of Los Angeles was counsel for the transfer firm.

ALBION, N. Y. (AP)—Ten-year-old Betty Clark will have two teachers and a whole school to herself next year.

She is the only pupil in Carlton district school No. 2 this year. Last night the voters decided to hire a part-time music teacher to assist the regular teacher in her education.

AUTOMOBILE COST

It costs about 25 per cent more to operate an automobile on gravel road than on high-type hard surface.

STORE NOTES SPECIAL WEEK

Retail hardware stores throughout the country, following the leadership of the National Hardware association's 14,000 members, will celebrate National Hardware Week starting next Monday and continuing throughout Saturday, May 14th. Although the week does not officially start until Monday, the McFadden Dale Hardware company, will hold an advance celebration, starting tomorrow, Saturday, when all National Hardware Week merchandise values will hold good.

The object of National Hardware Week, said Plummer Bruns, manager of the McFadden-Dale company, is to acquaint the public with the many values and services to be found in the independent hardware store not only during the week, but every day in the year.

A secondary purpose of National Hardware Week as sponsored by retail hardware merchants, is to stimulate public spending among people who can afford to buy through the offering of extra values. "Many people who can afford to buy," said Bruns, "are not buying, and we are trying to offer this type of person plenty of plus values in order to give him more for his dollar."

LIONS HEAR C OF C HEADS

Seven officers and committee heads of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce told Lions club members yesterday afternoon about their progress and objectives.

Included in brief talks were explanations of the chamber's "50,000 population by 1940" slogan and traffic and parking problems. W. F. Croddy, vice-president of the chamber, had charge of the meeting.

Speakers, few of whom pronounced the city's name "Santy Ana," included:

E. B. Sharpley, promotion and advertising; Dick Emison, industries; George Spielman, merchants; Judge J. B. Tucker, city and county relations; E. M. Sundquist, auto parking and traffic; and Dale Deckert, the June 19 air show.

Shaw Film Edited For Americans

LONDON. (AP)—Two film versions will be made of Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," now in production—so that it will be intelligible to both English and American audiences.

In the American version, "garbage man" will be substituted for "dust man," "baby carriage" for "pram," "stool pigeon" for "copper's nark," "faucet" for "water tap" and "dude" for "toff."

THE BIBLE—Its Simple Treasures

(Paraphrased to Include Modern Thought and Action)
(A Verse a Day May Keep Sin Away)

PSALMS
(Verse 6)
(Chapter 2)

Yet have I set my king on the holy hill of Zion.

* * * * *

MODERN VERSION

The kings of this earth took counsel and decided to break the cords (God) that they foolishly believed kept them from taking God's place. With the patience that only the Supreme Being could and would show He waited and then—He 'set my King on the holy hill' (Jesus). He went about preaching but the earthly kings took no heed. Jesus lived in hovels, the sky above was His roof, the desert His pulpit. The earthly kings marveled at His miracles and finally crucified Him. But their cords were not event then broken. Grand old Rome, world power, fell into ashes. Greece likewise—two kingdoms that thought they owned the earth and did if only the material be considered. Jesus Who owned nothing excepting the wide open air of the desert and mountains, had more power in one little word. Why? Because He had God with Him—Rome and Greece had God against them because they worshiped the false idol—Lust for Power.

Lawmaking for 67 Years Held Illegal

VICTORIA, B. C.—All the legislation passed for British Columbia during the past 67 years was illegal. Such is the conclusion provincial government officials have come to. The fault was lieutenant governors have been assenting laws in the king's name instead of in the name of the governor-general, as provided by the British North American act. Laws will not be questioned, but the proper procedure will be followed nereafter.

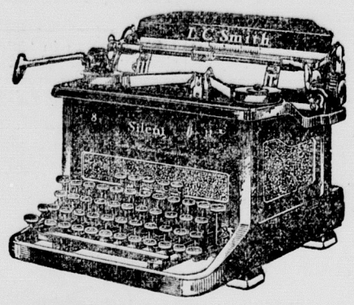

CHANEY JOINS LOCAL FIRM

Homer Chaney has been named Orange county manager of Hays, Hudson and Bradstreet, general agents for the New England Mutual Life Insurance company of Boston, Rolla R. Hays, senior member of the organization, announced today.

Chaney is a graduate of Pomona college and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He has had ten years' experience as assistant trust officer of the First National Bank in Santa Ana and was forum director of the adult education department of the federal government for one year. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, the Lions club, the local post of the American Legion.

Associated with Chaney in the local office at 408 North Sycamore street are: M. B. Youel, Crawford Wells and Rolla R. Hays.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

This column is indebted to Mrs. Lena Burdick for the information telling of the wonderful success enjoyed recently by the Costa Mesa clubs in the staging of a turkey dinner at which more than 200 were in attendance of whom 150 were business men and women of Costa Mesa and adjacent area. The dinner was served free and Col. Ralph D. Horton of Los Angeles addressed the group on the Townsend plan. Mrs. Burdick acted as chairman.

Costa Mesa club No. 2 is holding a potluck dinner at 6:30 p. m. this evening in the Townsend hall at 2204 Newport boulevard. Mrs. H. F. Robertson asks this column to urge members to attend and help elect delegates to the national convention.

Santa Ana clubs Nos. 1 and 7 are meeting at 7:30 p. m. this evening in the Roosevelt school for a business meeting. The location is on East First street in the 300 block.

Edith L. Paul, president of Santa Ana club No. 10 has been elected from her club as delegate to the Los Angeles national convention. Rev. Ida L. Ewing was selected alternate. This club meets at 7:30 p. m. this evening in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street for a business session.

Orange club No. 2 meets tonight in the Townsend club building at 131 South Glassell at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. Abbie Gould in the chair. Walter R. Robb will be the speaker.

Walter Schultz will preside over the business session of Fullerton club No. 2 at 7:30 p. m. this evening in the recreation room of the California hotel at West Wilshire and North Spadra streets. Next week this club will hold a potluck dinner.

The Costa Mesa Hill Billies will furnish music for a Townsend dance at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Costa Mesa Townsend hall at 2204 Newport boulevard.

Mrs. Grace Benjamin of the Tustin club writes of the potluck dinner held last Monday evening in honor of its members who are having birthdays during the month of May. She says a wonderful time was enjoyed by the large group present. In addition to the regular potluck dinner variety of eats there was a large birthday cake which was presented to the honored guests. Those whose birthdays were celebrated were: Mrs. H. C. Thomas, Mrs. N. A. Atchley, Mrs. Marie Hibbet and Mrs. Ralph Voyce. Next Monday evening the club will be entertained by a group of Costa Mesa ladies who will put on the play, "The Old Maids Convention."

A home-made cake sale will be conducted in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Orders will be delivered if you will telephone 1088. Santa Ana Townsend club No. 6 is sponsoring the sale for the purpose of raising funds for the Townsend cause.

Santa Ana club No. 11 will put on a different kind of program in its meeting at 7:30 p. m. this evening in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street. All members are requested to bring something cut out of some paper or periodical, humorous or otherwise, to be read at tonight's meeting. E. G. Warner, publicity chairman, conceived the idea of such a program with the idea of giving opportunity for all members to take part.

Gadgets Bring Riches to Lucky Hollywood Stars

HOLLYWOOD. (AP) — Dopey never learned to talk—because he didn't try—but he sings a merry tune for Papa Disney.

Charlie McCarthy talks (and talks and talks), but a very silent Charlie is helping to run Edgar Bergen's income into seven figures.

The royalties on Shirley Temple dolls and dresses and books and undies are said to equal half of her film income.

The world pays millions every year in indirect fan worship in addition to the millions it puts up to see moving and speaking shadows. Due to the appearance of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" this year, Hollywood's revenues from royalty and indorsement sources probably will be doubled.

A representative of the Walt Disney enterprises estimated today that 20 million dollars worth of Snow White and dwarf dolls and jewelry and compacts and sweat shirts will be sold. The return to Disney, since percentages vary so much, can only be estimated.

The studio does not deny that royalties may well pay the cost of the film. Last year, Disney realized $70,000 on merchandise tie-ups, which was about one-fourth of the net ($270,000) on his 18 short pictures. If the same percentage maintains for "Snow White," which, experts predict, will gross $7,000,000, Disney should receive $1,750,000 in royalties. The picture cost $1,250,000.

There is no way of checking the report that Charlie McCarthy dolls are out-selling Shirley Temples, but Bergen's office says that 25,000 Charlies have been sold up to April 1. McCarthy will earn for Bergen (or vice versa) $100,000 in royalties this year, which is about one-third of the amount NBC and pictures will pay the ventriloquist.

The Temples never discuss Shirley's earnings, but Mrs. Gertrude Temple once said outside income, from indorsements and the like, is sufficient to pay Shirley's federal and state income taxes. This indicates she receives about $300,000 in royalties, enabling her to bank her $600,000 film salary.

Deanna Durbin's income is $4800 weekly, with at least one-fourth from royalties on dresses and books. Jane Withers' toys and dresses earn her almost $1000 a week, a little less than half of her movie income.

NON-SMOKERS

LEIPZIG, Germany. (American Wire)—Paper collars to be worn once, then thrown away have been invented here by Adolph Closmann. He claims the collars can be made so cheaply from paper they will be less expensive to use than ordinary collars.

Vandals Wreck Parking Meters

PORTLAND, Ore. — Clubbed wrenches in the hands of four young men wrecked 50 newly-installed parking meters in downtown Portland today. Glass fronts and timing devices of the machines were smashed.

No explanation was offered for their "hate" of the meters when police caught up with them. Three were arrested and held under bail of $2000 each.

They gave the names of Frederick S. Hall, Ernest J. Running and Ben Mahoney.

Italian fishermen are using over half a million glass bulbs a year as substitutes for the old fashioned cork floaters.

SPORTS Roundup

—By— EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—Well, the esteemed San Francisco press, which raised the very dickens because Col. Ruppert wouldn't capitulate to Joe DiMaggio's demands for $40,000 per, but instead made Joseph holler "uncle" and sign for $25,000, could spare a few columns for another home town find, Dario Lodigiani who is doing such a slick job of second basing for the athletics and knocking the American league's best pitchers all over the lot . . . Compared with DiMaggio's $25,000, Signor Lodigiani draws down $2500 from the Philadelphians . . . Burleigh Grimes, pitching in batting practice the other day, "dusted off" his own Gib Brack . . . "Might as well get 'em used to it now as later," explained "Boily."

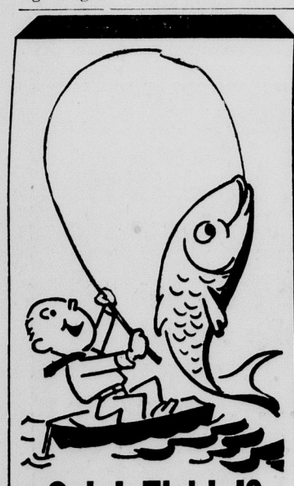

* * *

Withdrawal of Stagehand from tomorrow's derby may put the kibosh on a clever plan Trainer Earl Sande has been toting around in the back of his head . . . Pitt and Carnegie Tech will resume intercollegiate baseball relations next year . . . Paul Schissler, Oregon State and Brooklyn Dodger football coach, has moved his family to Los Angeles and will live there . . . That's a tip any western school looking around for a good man . . . Cardinal supporters think Stu Martin, the infielder, will be the "comeback man" of the 1938 season . . .

DENNEY JOINS S. A. TONIGHT

Joining the Stars in their final dress rehearsal for the National Nightball league opener with Orange here Tuesday night, Tom Denney will be lead-off batsman and left-fielder when Santa Ana vies with Jimmy Coates' Union Oil club of Wilmington in the Muncipal Bowl at 8 o'clock tonight. A 15-cent admission will be charged.

Denney's .380 batting average last year will considerably boost the club, which will not be a serious contender to Huntington Beach until Pitcher Stan Jacobsmeyer, now at California, joins in another week. Al Hunter and Armand Hanson will divide the pitching tonight.

Dean Still Considered 'Bargain'

WRIGLEY SAYS AILING 'DIZ' TO AID CUBS

'He Has Spirit and A Fine Morale and Love for the Game'

CHICAGO. (AP)—Dizzy Dean, sore arm and all, still is a bargain at $185,000 in the books of Phil K. Wrigley.

Back from a two-week visit in California where he had gone immediately after closing the deal that has had baseball circles speculating ever since, the owner of the Chicago Cubs said today:

"I thought it was a good deal when we made it and I still do."

"It certainly hasn't hurt the ball club," Wrigley added, "even though Diz did come up with a sore arm. We haven't missed Stainback or Shoun. And as far as I am concerned, I'd rather have Dean with a sore arm than Davis at his best."

Outfielder Tuck Stainback and Pitchers Clyde Shoun and Curt Davis were the Cub players sent, along with $185,000 in cash to St. Louis in the deal.

"A lot of people have been asking whether I thought Branch Rickey dealt in good faith, and I believe he did," continued Wrigley. "We had no written agreement on the soundness of the players. Both sides agreed to take all risks. I won't squawk on the deal under any circumstances.

"So what's the fuss about?"

"When we bought Dean we were not thinking in terms of his arm alone," declared the Cubs' owner. "He has other qualities that make him just as valuable. He has spirit, a fine sense of morale. And he loves baseball whether he is pitching or not. A player of Dean's type is a real asset to any team."

Tribe, Giants Faltering in Foreign Parks

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't look now, folks, but can that be the rejuvenated Cleveland Indians and Bill Terry's terrific Giants who have just dropped the first series of their respective Eastern and Western invasions?

Only a week ago, they were saying that Oscar Vitt had put some T. N. T. into the Tribe's breakfast food this year, and that from now on they wouldn't be like Little Bo Peep's lost sheep when they made their tours 'round the circuit. And they were saying, that Terry's Terriers had uncovered a batting punch no one suspected they had—a wallop that almost made them look like feared American leaguers.

But all that was before both outfits left home and the friendly feel of their own parks.

Journal Picks Compton; Six Dons Qualify

Not expected to cut a fancy figure in the annual all-Southern California J. C. track and field meet, which will probably be monopolized by three Western and two Eastern division squads, six Santa Ana Dons will seek individual laurels at Pomona college Saturday afternoon.

Los Angeles, Compton and Pasadena and Riverside and Fullerton are predicted to cut each others' throats for top honors. Santa Ana's entrants are Blas Mercurio in the low hurdles and high jump, Jimmy Johnson in the 880-yard run, Walt Opp in the 440, Bill Huntalas in the broad jump and Les Huhn and Eslson Gaebe in the high jump.

The Journal's dope sheet, which hit squarely the Eastern conference's first two places and approximate scores last week, predicts Compton's well - balanced squad to garner the championship with close to 47 points. Pasadena should take the runner-up position with nearly 38 points.

LIONETTES NIP CAN-TAN, 5-4

Advancing another notch toward the top of the Major Girls' Softball league standings, Orange's Lionettes whipped Cantlay-Tanzola Cuties, 5 to 4, in Hollywood last night. Young's Markets defeated by Bank of America put Manager Vic Baden's Orange girls one game out of first place.

Lois Terry pitched three-hit ball and struck out 10 Can-Tan batsmen, while her teammates scored early, tightened in the pinches.

Adkinson Eyes Mark

Ray's 1:56.2 Pomona Record Endangered

By PAUL WRIGHT

An 880-yard record set in 1917 by Ray Adkinson, Orange county's present superintendent of schools, with a sensational mark of 1:56.2 that has stood for lo, these many years, will be endangered tomorrow afternoon.

A smooth-striding chap by the name of Walden, who negotiated the two-lap grind in 1:56.7 against Occidental and a strong wind in a recent dual meet, may breeze to a new mark in the Southern California conference track-and-field finals on Patterson field, Eagle Rock campus of Occidental, tomorrow.

Adkinson will lose no prestige unless Walden wins, because his 1:56.2 mark is a Pomona college record, set while the handsome school official was a 125-pound junior back in '17. Ray also held the Southern California record in the slower time of 1:58 (set in '18), but this mark was shattered two years ago by a San Diego runner.

Obviously, a 1:56.2 of yesterday is more remarkable than a 1:56.2 of today. No matter how one looks at it, however, the time is fast, and there are many college runners of today who would be glad to "crack" two minutes, even on a faster track. Adkinson's record was set in a practice dual meet which Pomona college had with the University of California during the middle of the '17 season. The Sagehens held their own in the track events, but the Bears had too much quantity afield, and won handily.

Adkinson's teammate and coach on that record run was all-America team, and who replaced Eugene Nixon as head track coach at Pomona a couple of seasons ago. Both were prominent in extra-curricula activities, Adkinson serving as associated student president in 1918.

RAY ADKINSON
Personal '880' Interest
Bob Strehle, the hurdler who gained a place on Walter Camp's

Adkinson improved with distance. He ran the 880 in two flat at Santa Ana High because his coach insisted on keeping him in the dashes, but in college Ray hit his true stride, went in for even the one, two and four-mile jaunts. He discovered during the longer runs that he had the endurance to outrun most of the competitors of his conference.

Against Occidental in '18, Adkinson enjoyed his biggest point-collecting day. He won the 440 and 880, placed second to Homer Chaney in the 100. Chaney, Santa Ana insurance man, also was a track star at Pomona. He and Adkinson ran on the relay team that holds the present four-man 880 record.

Adkinson says the biggest thrill of his track career came with that record-breaking 1:56.2 race in which he finished nearly 15 yards ahead of the California runner, a lanky lad named Blanchard. Adkinson's biggest surprise came in a dual meet in which an 18-ft. leap gave him first place in the broad jump!

MRS. BAKRE GOLF QUEEN

High-Low Tourney Begins Tomorrow

Mrs. Harry Bakre sported the women's golf crown of the Santa Ana Country club today, replacing the 1937 titleholder, Mrs. C. V. Doty.

After a poor start in which she took eight strokes on the No. 1 hole, Mrs. Bakre rallied brilliantly for a final score of 84 to defeat Mrs. E. E. Baker in finals over the Newport boulevard course yesterday. Mrs. E. R. Kerley won the first flight from Mrs. B. W. McClure. In opening matches of the defeated flight, Mrs. P. H. McVicar eliminated Mrs. L. H. Robinson, Mrs. Rella Woodington put out Mrs. R. W. Weston, Mrs. C. H. Chapman ousted Mrs. L. J. Bushard and Mrs. Ludy Schaffer drew the bye.

The annual high-low golf tournament for men will be launched tomorrow . Pairings already have been announced.

EWERT ACES 17

Employing a No. 6 iron, Dick Ewert, former men's champion at the Country club, aced the No. 17 hole (154 yards) in play Wednesday.

S. A. BOXING SET MAY 16

M. J. (Bud) Levin, promoter of the Orange County Athletic club, announced today the return of boxing to Orange county. He will present his first boxing card in the local arena the night of May 16, under direction of Frankie Lockhart, matchmaker.

350 STUDENTS VIE IN TRACK

Sullivan, Adkinson Run Off Big Meet

Approximately 350 athletes from Santa Ana's 14 elementary schools will congregate on Clayton field at the high school tomorrow morning for their annual track and field meet, starting at 9 o'clock and continuing until noon.

Russell (Red) Sullivan, former Saint and Don athletic star who later played baseball and basketball at Whittier college, will be in charge of the big meet, which will be run off in four divisions —midgets, juniors, seniors and unlimited.

Competition will be held in the 50-yard dash, broad jump, basketball throw, high jump and four-man shuttle relay.

Championships will be awarded in each division, and trophies will be donated by Al's Lock and Key shop and Vandermast Clothiers. Ribbons will be awarded the first four place winners.

Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, will serve as starter, Manager Sullivan announced.

Wrestling

CAMDEN, N. J.—Ernie Dusek, 228, Omaha, pinned Al Bisignano, 220, Des Moines, two straight falls.

BULL LEA 3-1 IN KENTUCKY TURF CLASSIC

Lawrin, Menow 6-1 In 64th Running At 2:30 Tomorrow

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Having survived the unexpected loss of its highly regarded winter book favorite, the Kentucky Derby will be run tomorrow for the 64th time since Aristides, the little red horse, romped home a winner in 1875, with prospects of an east-west duel for the $50,000 pot of gold.

Fighting Fox, racing for William Woodward, New York banker, and Bull Lea, foaled in the blue grass but owned by Warren Wright of Chicago, were established the strong choices today as Trainer Earl Sande joined with Owner Maxwell Howard in declaring the ailing Stagehand definitely out of the three-year-old classic.

STAGEHAND RECOVERING

Stagehand, held as short as 5 to 2 in the future books following his victory over Seabiscuit in the Santa Anita Handicap, apparently was well on his way to recovery but Sande said he was taking no changes.

Most of the followers of Stagehand quickly jumped on the band wagons of Fighting Fox and Bull Lea. A few, however, stuck with Sande, holding to the belief that the popular little trainer still has a powerful threat in The Chief, winner of the mile trail stakes on Tuesday in track record equalling time.

As the advance guard of an expected crowd of 60,000 poured into this capital of the blue grass by every mode of transportation, it became evident the Fox would go postward at odds of 5 to 2 or shorter with plenty of support for Bull Lea at 3 to 1 or less. Post time will be about 2:30 p. m., Pacific time.

The unexpected withdrawal of Stagehand marked the third time since 1931 that the future book favorite fell by the wayside as turf followers from every section and walk of life invaded this city. Equipoise went lame on the eve of the 1931 renewal and Chance Sun suffered the same misfortune two days before the 1935 running.

PROBABLE ODDS

Although there is every prospect of fair weather and a fast track, not more than eight horses are expected to oppose the favorites.

Horse	Owner	Jockey	Odds
Fighting Fox,	Woodward,	Stout	5-2
Bull Lea,	Wright,	Anderson	3-1
Lawrin,	Woolf,	Arcaro	6-1
Menow,	Headley,	Workman	6-1
The Chief,	Howard,	Westrope	8-1
Dauber,	Dupont, jr.,	Peters	10-1
Can't Wait,	Selznick,	Balaski	15-1
Elooto,	Mrs. O'Tolle,	Faust	40-1
Co-Sport,	Friend,	Dotter	50-1
Mtn. Ridge,	Mrs. Mars,	Robertson	50-1

☆YESTERDAY'S☆STARS

Jonathan Stone, Senators — Hit homer with bases loaded in 8-6 win over Indians.

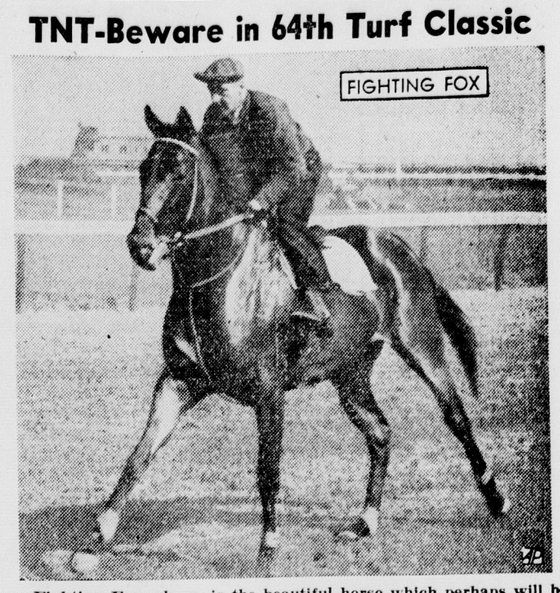

Red Lucas and Pep Young, Pirates—Former piched five-hitter and Young drove in three runs to whip Dodgers, 4-2.

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees — His homer, triple and single drove in four runs in 12-10 win over Browns.

Rudy York, Tigers — Walloped two homers, good for three runs, to beat Red Sox 7-5.

Milt Shoffner, Bees — Stopped Cardinals with eight hits for 5-2 victory.

TNT-Beware in 64th Turf Classic

Fighting Fox, above, is the beautiful horse which perhaps will be pounding down the home home stretch ahead of the pack tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock (PST), in the 64th annual running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

SPORTS Copy-Wrighted By PAUL WRIGHT

Kentucky Derby Wagers

From this distance, we were stringing with Stagehand to win the 64th annual running of the Kentucky Derby, but now that the Earl Sande-trained colt has been withdrawn because of illness, perhaps it will be wisest to place two bucks on the head of the favorite, Fighting Fox.

Paul Wright

Perhaps it will be wisest not to bet at all; that, apparently, is the only way one can really beat the oat-eaters. Thrills are worth something, however, and just think of the thrills—at wide intervals, of course—you get when a horse comes in and pays upwards of $15 and $20. That won't happen, though, if Fighting Fox reaches the wire first.

Bull Lea is the gentleman the betting commissioners, James J. Carroll and Charles Burke, are pulling for, because Warren Wright's entrant is "running for the books." There is so little public money riding on Bull Lea in the future books that Commissioner Carroll, for example, with an approximate total take of $26,790, will pay only $833 if this horse wins tomorrow. Even considering the payoffs on the second and third horses, a tidy profit would result.

Strangely enough, Stagehand's fleet stablemate, The Chief, which won Tuesday's derby trial, has been relatively unplayed in Commissioner Burke's book. A victory for The Chief, however, would cost the other commissioner, Carroll, approximately $25,000.

Garcia Scores T. K. O.

Frankie Lockhart of Santa Ana, newly-appointed matchmaker for the Orange County Athletic club which revives boxing here tentatively May 16, has landed Ben and Al Garcia on tonight's fight card at the Wilmington arena.

Matchmaker Lockhart escorted Jack Malone, the Garcia boys and Johnny Munoz, all of whom will appear at the Highway 101 arena soon, to Ontario Wednesday night to see George Stewert's fights again. Joe Palacio, who impressed Referee Max Baer in the same ring two weeks ago, could not make the return trip because of illness from a vaccination. . . . Ben Garcia made a spot on Wednesday's card, the 120-pounder scoring a technical knockout in the second round. . . . Ben fights Ross Guteirez, arena favorite, at Wilmington tonight, and Al Garcia exchanges blows with Don La Rue, Long Beach lad.

Saint Gals Show Class

From a standpoint of records, it's difficult to beat the one now being hung up by Santa Ana High school's girls in tennis.

They have clean - sweeped practice matches with Newport Harbor, Orange and Anaheim within the past few days! The opposition apparently doesn't know what a point looks like.

LUTZE BEATS SMALLINSKI

Overcoming Josef Smallinski's first-fall victory with a Boston crab in 9:18, popular Nick Lutze came back to defeat the Russian in two falls of the wrestling "main" event at the Orange County Athletic club last night. Lutze annexed the second fall in the quick time of 52 secs., and was awarded the second on Smallinski's roughness after 3 min. 6 secs.

WHY WOULDN'T FOLKS "LOOK PLEASANT"

SMOKING THIS MILDER, TASTIER "MAKIN'S" TOBACCO?

JULIAN GARVIN gets sure-fire smiles in his snapshots when the boys are puffing Prince Albert "makin's" smokes. Sure they look joyful—P. A.'s the National Joy Smoke. First off, Prince Albert stays put in the paper, doesn't spill out the ends—it's "crimp cut," not flaky. Draws smoother and burns slower. P.A.'s rich, full-bodied taste is a joy too—and this ripe tobacco smokes extra-mild, mellow. Let Prince Albert put you in the joy-smoke picture too! Read special trial offer below. (Similar offer for pipe-smokers.)

GENE PHILLIPS (left) lays out a neat Prince Albert smoke even though he's "watching the birdie." "I've tried everything on the shelves," he tells Julian, "but Prince Albert gets the prize for quick, easy rollin'." "P. A. sure has what it takes for mild 'makin's' smokes," puts in Hugh Plumb, Jr. (He's the middle one.) "Most everybody around here rolls Prince Albert now."

ARMAGEDDON UNEARTHED IN PALESTINE

By Science Service

CHICAGO. — Digging through 20 layers of city ruins, an Oriental Institute expedition in Palestine has probed the entire history of Armageddon, classic battlefield of the world.

Word that the expedition has struck bedrock, at this site which the Book of Revelation names as the location for a final battle between forces of good and evil, has been received here by Director John A. Wilson of the Institute.

The date for the twentieth and oldest city will not be estimated until pottery associated with it has been more closely studied, reported Gordon Loud, in charge of excavations at the site.

The 13-acre mound identified as Armageddon of Bible fame is now called Megiddo. The Oriental Institute began exploring its contents in 1925 and has found in it ruins of civilizations dating from 400 B. C. back to earlier than 2000 B. C.

Excavations have revealed that, although battles were fought at Armageddon furiously and often, the city flourished in the intervals of peace. This long-forgotten side of Armageddon's personality has been re-discovered in the palace of the ruling princes.

Commanding a magnificent view of the plain, this palace in the fifteenth to thirteenth centuries before Christ was luxurious and splendid. The ruins show that its many rooms were grouped around a central court, paved with lime, and painted in brilliant colors. Visitors to the palace paused to wash in an anteroom paved with seashells. The hoard of gold, ivory, and lapis lazuli treasures found in the palace last season testifies to magnificence of Canaanite princes in the era when they were vassals to Egypt.

Solomon's interest in Megiddo has been recalled by discovery in the ruins of great stables which would shelter more than 300 horses at a time, reminding excavators that King Solomon in his own day was probably more widely known for horses than for wives.

The lowest levels boast architecture surprisingly good for the period around 2000 B. C., Loud reports, but these early settlements have been relatively poor in buried objects.

In the nineteenth level has been uncovered a large, round altar which dates from about the time of the patriarchs of the Bible—Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

The earliest battle at Armageddon, so far known, was fought in May, 1479 B. C., when Thutmose the Third of Egypt defeated the Asiatic allies. This feat was duplicated in September 1918 A. D., when General Allenby led a British division against Turks near the site.

RAILROAD LOAN BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate banking committee has approved legislation providing federal loans to railroads for equipment and maintenance.

The committee made only minor changes in the legislation, which previously was approved by a conference of congressional leaders, federal agency officials and representatives of railroads.

Members of the committee quizzed Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, before approving the measure. Chairman Wagner (D., N. Y.) of the committee said he would endeavor to bring the bill before the senate as soon as possible. He added that he expected no opposition.

Attorney Seeks Way to Spend General's Riches

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Attorney Clement B. Wood is seeking a patriotic means of spending $112,000.

In 1890, Brigadier General William M. Reilly of the national guard, directed in his will that his estate should remain intact until $112,000 or so accumulated in interest.

Then it was to be used to erect in front of Independence hall statues of four revolutionary generals—Lafayette, Montgomery, Pulaski and Von Steuben.

But recently the art jury ruled against more generals—heroes notwithstanding.

Judge Lewis H. Van Dusen of the Orphans court has named Wood "as a friend of the court" to find a way of using the money now available.

Mayor Showered With Tin Cans In Cleanup Drive

HOPKINS, Minn. (AP) — Mayor James Manchester viewed youth's business acumen with a new respect today.

The mayor, as part of a community house cleaning drive, announced he would pay a nickel a bushel for tin cans collected by youngsters and delivered at the city dump. The Civic & Commerce association voted him $10 to cover expenses.

So, loaded with nickels, the mayor went to the dump to receive the contributions. When he dug his way out of the deluge of harware, all the nickels were gone, and $71.20 worth of the mayor's IOU's.

The youngsters had ransacked surrounding villages.

THE PIG WAR . . .

One little pig went to market and made a name for himself. Another little pig, strange as it seems, almost changed the course of history by the simple expedient of digging up a few potatoes!

This other little pig was owned by an Irish-Canadian living on tiny San Juan Island, near Vancouver, back in 1859; the potatoes he rooted belong to Layman Culver, an American living on the same island.

Annoyed, Culver repeatedly warned the pig's owner, finally killed the pig. The Irishman, an official of the Hudson's Bay company, decided to make an issue of the situation. He would appeal for redress to Britain's highest court, he said.

To which Culver replied: "San Juan is American territory."

The squabble did reach high courts of both countries but, strange as it seems, nobody knew whether the island was American or British. Commissioners who had drafted the boundary treaty were vague in their description of the water-channel dividing line.

Threats of violence echoed across the tiny island, and British and American troops were sent to the scene.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Strong buying in utilities gave the stock market a broad rallying hoist today that put many issues up fractions to around 4 points.

The power group, along with rails and specialties, uncovered quiet support at the start, the former apparently responding to persistent reports "something good" was coming out of Washington for the long-beleaguered public service corporations.

The utility upswing really got under way late in the session, with blocks of several thousand shares of low-priced stocks changing hands, when Securities and Exchange Commissioner John W. Hanes, in a luncheon address at Pittsburgh, made a plea for co-operation between government and business. Quotations follow:

Better Business-Labor Relations

As a document which may herald a new era in business-labor relations, the statement of the American Federation of Labor to the United States chamber of commerce convention in Washington deserves to be nailed to the bulletin board.

When an organization with as many labor battles to its credit as the A. F. of L. issues a conciliatory statement to the heads of Big Business, it is something to take note of.

Here are a few excerpts from the unusual message:

"Labor invites industry to discard the weapons of industrial warfare directed against labor by employers' associations both now and in the days gone by.

"Unemployment can only be overcome through the creation of work opportunities for working men and women in private industry. . . . Industry and labor should get together and seek to find a way by which the real remedy for idleness can be applied.

"The American Federation of Labor is committed to the principle of private ownership, private initiative and the protection of private property. The right to own and manage property must be conceded and safeguarded.

"Working people must be accorded the right to organize and bargain collectively. The highest wages which industry can afford should be paid and a fair return upon legitimate investments to those who own private property must be freely conceded."

There is logic in those words—logic that almost any American will find it easy to agree with.

The A. F. of L. learned that logic through long and bitter experience; many employers have done the same.

Most union and business men believe in the principles expressed in that statement, we believe. But the trouble at present is due partly to the fact that there are a few mavericks and racketeers on both sides—and a bunch of politicians sandwiched in between—who can't see the light and who have filled the air with dust as a result of their own greeds or lack of horse sense.

When general economic conditions have brought the whole world industrial machine to a point of tension, it does not take many trouble makers in any one country to throw that nation's gears out of mesh.

About the best thing that could happen to the United States right now, we believe, would be to convert a few of our so-called labor, business and political leaders to the principles of harmony and justice expressed in that A. F. of L. message.

The increase in postal receipts indicates that business is getting better, says a postoffice official. But maybe the increase is caused by people writing to Roosevelt to complain how bad business is.

Let's Get That Road Open

It's been 60 days since Santa Ana boulevard bridge went out with the flood. Yet no start appears to have been made toward the actual work of repairing or replacing it.

Delay is due, of course, to the discussion that has arisen between property owners and city officials over what way is best to restore traffic over on thoroughfare—by a concrete span, a dip through the river bottom or repair of the old trestle structure with its attendant flood hazard.

The Journal is not trying to take sides for one method or the other in this editorial, although we do not see the advisability of permanently rebuilding the trestle crossing in view of its menace in flood times.

We merely want to urge officials and property owners interested in the project to speed a settlement of the problem as quickly as possible.

Thousands of motorists daily used the cut-off before the flood washed out the bridge. Those same thousands today are seriously inconvenienced by being forced to detour.

Santa Ana boulevard is one of the most important road links in Orange county. It was built at considerable cost. Every day that it remains closed is a loss to the traveling public.

Savant reports that women own 70 per cent of the nation's wealth. But do you know any one of them that has a single thing fit to wear?

Any Spring Fever?

If the warm spring weather is giving you or your family the laziness of spring fever, you'll be interested in the suggestion of Dr. A. H. Flickwir, who is city health director at Fort Worth, Tex.

No more sulphur and molasses, says the doctor—eat fresh vegetables instead.

According to his theory, which sounds reasonable, Nature's own cure for the sluggishness of springtime is found in Nature's own foods. "Greens of any kind are a better tonic than medicine," he says. His prescription consists of fresh fruit and vegetables, milk and sunshine. He guarantees the cure.

It sounds reasonable, and mighty pleasant, too!

With everyone building a navy "second to none," what's needed is someone who'll build one for second place.

Some Figures

Killed in the American Civil war—500,000 men.

Killed in the Spanish civil war, to date—1,000,000 men, women and children.

Those figures tell a story of progress in death. The American Civil war, spread out over a period of four years, set America back on its heels for the next decade. The Spanish war, in less than two years, has done damage that centuries will not erase.

If a million persons are killed in a year in a small, isolated war today, the mind shudders at the damage that will be done in the next general European war, a death struggle in which Europe hopes we will take part!

WASHINGTON. — Sentiment in congress toward President Roosevelt's new spending program is hesitant and apparently will not jell for some time. There's a whiff of trouble in the air. Some people in congress have principles. But they aren't sure whether it will be necessary to rise above them, because they haven't heard from home. Until the people speak, it will be difficult for a number of members to make up their minds as to what is best for the country.

Thus far neither the telegraph business nor the postoffice department is making much profit out of the spending controversy. The trouble is you can write about this program only on an adding machine. One representative, whose district is among the most populous in the country, has had only half a dozen letters, about evenly divided. Several members reported no reaction. Others have only scattered mail. One of those, a Southern New Dealer, was a little surprised to find running through his mail a note of opposition to further spending.

Already it is evident that President Roosevelt's message to congress has failed to bring the huge quantities of fan mail as of yore. Time was when senators and representatives didn't even wait for the mail from home. They could feel it coming, and they would leap into line at least two jumps ahead of it. But times have changed.

* * *

WAITING GAME NOW

So they are waiting now. Considering what the opposition did with the reorganization bill, when it had little tangible stuff to sink its teeth into, it is possible that a terrific fight can be kicked up over the spending program. One member says that if the vote is delayed the opposition may fatten and cause trouble.

However, John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, says the Roosevelt pump-priming program is really a poll-priming program. If he can convince enough Democrats of that, they may rally to save the program.

The attack seemed to be shaping chiefly toward the heavy-public-works end of the program—what Roosevelt described as the "third round of ammunition." On the work-relief and CCC side of the program there seemed little chance of serious opposition. Those are requests essentially to keep WPA and CCC at present strength, to abandon the reductions which had been contemplated before it was realized that hard times were here again. When unemployment is increasing nobody is going to make much of a fight for further slashing relief rolls.

* * *

HEAVY PROGRAM TOO SLOW

However, Roosevelt said that was not enough. He said definite additions to purchasing power must be made by providing new work through PWA—the Ickes heavy-works program. He asked for $300,000,000 for more housing, to be used for slum clearance largely. For heavy public works he asked, first, expenditure of $450,000,000, and second the granting of authority to lend up to $1,000,000,000 to states and subdivisions for public improvements which could be undertaken before snow flies again.

That, Roosevelt said, was the third round of ammunition—the two others being work relief under Hopkins and the expansion of credit which he has undertaken by administrative action.

Objection is made that the heavy PWA program of Ickes would, as before, be too slow to provide immediate stimulation. PWA experts reply that a large number of projects have been approved and were held up only when funds were cut off. Work on these could begin immediately, if not sooner. This bait is being held out to senators and representatives.

Ickes has his ammunition assembled, and the only question is whether it will go off with Ickes behind it or on it.

FDR Rejected Richberg Plan for Jackson's in His Monopoly Speech; Decision to Hit Monopolies

WASHINGTON. — When the President started writing his monopoly message to congress last week he had before him two important and diametrically opposite proposals.

One was a 10,000-word preliminary draft of a message by Solictor Gen. Bob Jackson, author of previous trust-busting speeches. The other was a long letter from Don Richberg, once NRA executive, now big-shot lawyer, which proposed the same monopoly controls supposed to exist under NRA, namely self-government of business.

Richberg expected to be called to the White House to help write the monopoly message, but the summons never came. Instead the President sent for Jackson and his chief, Atty. Gen. Cummins, showed both of them the Richberg letter.

Jackson read it and remarked dryly: "The same old stuff."

Cummins differed. "Sounds very good to me," he said.

"It doesn't to me," replied the President. "I think it is vague and unconvincing."

Cummins withdrew shortly afterward, leaving the President to work entirely with Jackson in whipping the monopoly message into final form.

MOMENTOUS DECISION

This conference was even more significant than appears on the surface. It represented a long period of hemming and hawing between the President and his advisors on both sides of the road. His final decision to take the left road, therefore, is interpreted by his inner council to mean that he will follow that road without deviation in the future.

Hitherto Roosevelt has played a policy which might be described as "balancing prejudices." He dealt out a hand in favor of his left-wing group, then turned around and tossed a few cards in the direction of his right-wingers.

It was a policy of aiming a "little left of center" but trying to keep both sides pacified.

Regarding his monopoly message, Roosevelt was torn between these two sides far more than anyone, except those on the inside, realized. The message was supposed to come out immediately after his return from Warm Springs, when Bob Jackson rode north on the train with him. But because of the vehement tug-of-war, it was delayed.

On one side were the "go-slowers"—Secretaries Hull, Wallace, Atty. Gen. Cummins, RF Chairman Jesse Jones and Don Richberg.

On the other side were the "hit-harders"—Secretary Ickes, SE Chairman Bill Douglas, Harry Hopkins, Bob Jackson and Brain Trusters Henderson, Cohen and Corcoran.

The go-slowers favored the Richberg plan of "self-government" by the monopolies themselves. The hit-harders, on the other hand, claimed that the issue was clear cut and involved the vital problem of the concentration of wealth.

ARMAGEDDON

After weeks of pulling in opposite directions, two factors influenced the decision:

1. The growing insurgency of old guard Democrats. Their battle against Roosevelt on the reorganization fight convinced him that he never could get any real help from them. Naturally this strengthened the position of his liberal counselors.

2. The La Follette third party movement. This very definite threat to take the Progressives away from him convinced Roosevelt that he must be more progressive than the Progressives.

So he delivered the fighting attack on monopolies recommended by Bob Jackson.

Those closest to the President say that this was one of the most momentous decisions of his career, that the die is now cast for a consistent swing to the left in all Roosevelt policies.

As one of his intimate counselors remarked: "This is Armageddon. The President has determined that he has to shoot it out with big business this summer. It cannot be delayed further. He knows that either he is going to get them or they are going to get him."

SPANISH PROTESTS

Some of Secretary Hull's close friends are complaining that personal letters they have sent him protesting against the Spanish embargo have received only a perfunctory acknowledgment typed out by a state department clerk.

As a matter of fact, the state department has been receiving so many letters on Spain that the stenographic force has been swamped. None of the higher officers, however, knows that extra mail is being received. It is answered by a consul recently transferred from the field who goes through the letters and marks them for "form 3" or "form 4" acknowledgment.

The state department stenographers do the rest. They are the only ones who know how the state department has been deluged with protests on Spain.

For testing light density of movie film, a handy device has been constructed by a cameraman. It consists of a metal tube three inches long in which are two focusing lens and a slot for 35 millimeter film. Attached to this is a metal tube holding two flashlight batteries. At the end of this tube is a tiny frosted bulb and a thin ground glass partition. Previously directors and cameramen examined the light tests of film by holding it up to the light. Only single-frame film can be viewed with the device, but its maker believes a similar tester might be made for double-frame 35 millimeter color transparencies and film such as that used in miniature cameras.

HARD-SHELLED SPEAKERS

To the Editor: A Santa Ana clubwoman complains in The Journal that when women have an important convention they have to listen to reactionary and hard-shelled speakers.

I trust the women will not "gang up" on the well-meaning reactionary and hard-shelled orators. Even Communists and anarchists, if they are not aliens, have the right to proclaim their theories in the English speaking world.

A story is told of a haranguer of a crowd in London, who was accosted by a policeman: "If you want to 'ang the King go 'ang him near the Royal harch. Say what you please, but don't obstruct traffic."

In a spirit of helpfulness, I suggest mental exercises for the more progressive women, to create interest, when again addressed by reactionary and hard-shelled orators.

Such speakers are usually incense burners to the now somewhat forsaken god of "rugged individualism."

It might prove to be an intellectual stimulant to then recall that when the rugged individualists became appalled and bewildered at the results of their own handicraft: broken banks, foreclosed farms, bankrupt merchants and unemployed, a "d" could have been appropriately added, denominating them "drugged individualists"; and when the results became more pronounced, the change of the "u" to an "a" and considering them "ragged individualists" would have been a truthful characterization.

Then on the subject of relief. The most reactionary of hard-shelled now declare: "We are all for the relief of the unemployed and destitute." One may create interest by recalling that when millions were starving, and local charity, and city, county and state relief agencies had broken down, a reactionary and hard-shelled congress and president furnished no relief to the needy.

Another thought may excite interest and wonder in the female mind. Reactionary and hard-shelled speakers further emphatically state that they are opposed to increasing the national debt. One may certainly experience intellectual exhilaration by trying to figure out how the government is going to furnish relief without incurring expense therefor.

If the women are still "bored to tears," they may be lifted out of boredom by marveling how it happens that the hard-shelled speakers who are opposed to the government going into debt for relief purposes or for construction of bridges, public buildings, conservation, irrigation, flood control and better housing made no objection at all to flagrant profiteering when the government was engaged in destructive purposes and in 18 months in 1917 and 1918 spent more billions than the government has spent in the last seven years.

Perhaps such mental exaltation will enable the clubwomen at their conventions to realize that maybe the hard-shelled speakers possess a sixth sense, or have discovered a fourth dimension, or maybe experience perceptions which only a raised spirit may know.

SHARPLESS WALKER.

NO MORE WORRY

To the Editor: Once there was a dumb cluck who believed in working for a living, just an average guy with a wife and two kids and the regulation amount of bills coming in each month. Things went from bad to worse and his income dropped off to where last month he made $9.80. He has dropped his insurance; the finance company is taking his car away; one creditor has a judgment, another is going to sue; his gas and lights are cut off—his wife buys clothes at the Salvation Army stores to keep the kids in school and he owes over two months rent. Never having made enough to save any money, all he could do was worry and being too proud to tell the truth, he lied to his creditors while trying to figure a way to meet his obligations. As a result his credit is ruined for good and he knows it and it hurts like h——.

Knowing that everyone likes a happy ending, I'm not going to let you in on it; the guy has finally made his decision. He's not going to worry any more! He's going to tell his creditors where they can go; he has tossed in the sponge and quit cold. You see he is going down and apply for relief tomorrow.

You know there is nothing like success. Isn't it nice to hear of a man who kept on trying finally getting a break?

CARNEGIE'S Day —By— Day Philosophy

Would you like to hear how a girl from Missouri lost out on 23 jobs she had tried to get? I met her the other day, and we fell to swapping Missouri yarns. During the talk this story came out.

Her name is Mary McBride and she was born in Paris, Mo.

She wanted to get ahead in the world, so she turned on Paris (Missouri) and hied away to New York expecting to set the Hudson river on fire.

TRAMPS STREETS

She got a job on a newspaper and all was well. That is, for a while. The depression came along and threw her into the street. She had no job, and she had fallen into the expensive habit of eating.

Did she sit down and fold her hands and say, "There's no use trying. There are no jobs to be had." Indeed she did not. She tramped the street, made contacts and finally drew up a list of her prospects. There were 23. She went after them with vim and vigor. One was a chance to do publicity for a dairy, another to boost a Broadway show. Every single one of them encouraging!

And every single one of them washed out from under her! Was she discouraged? Of course she was. But she gritted her teeth and started in again. Then came the twenty-fourth prospect, the most humble and insignificant of all. It was to chatter over a radio station. She didn't think she could talk to a microphone. But Mary Margaret wasn't neglecting any opportunity.

They wanted her to do an imitation of a humorous philosopher—a sort of Mrs. Dooley. It made her sad to think of being humorous. But she wasn't going to pass up any prospect.

She wrote her humorous philosophy, worked it out in Irish dialect, rehearsed most carefully, and went before the microphone for her first broadcast.

IT WAS AWFUL

It was awful! The manager said he had listened to thousands of programs, but this was the worst he had ever heard.

Mrs. Dooley McBride was as low as a cistern.

Finally, she said, "Why can't I be myself? Let me talk like Mary Margaret McBride of Paris, Mo., instead of like Mrs. Dooley of Chicago.

After a little arguing the station consented. She was herself and nobody else. Immediately the letters began pouring in to "Martha Dane," the name she had chosen.

As I write this, she is on two rival radio chains and has more time on the air than any other woman in the world! One program, 15 minutes long, the other 45. An hour a day, five days a week—and all this as a result of her twenty-fourth job.

Last year the newspapers published what her income was. It was $52,000.

Not bad for a Paris (Mo.) girl eh?

PAY-LESS OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY WITH NUMEROUS FOOD VALUES IN S. A. STORE

'Get More for What You Pay'

Pay-Less Slogan Proves Popular With Patrons of Second and Sycamore Mart

Pay-Less market, all that the name implies, has served Orange county for the past year as a complete pantry, stocked with the best foods obtainable, and at prices that are right under the slogan "Get More for What You Pay."

Representing an investment of $80,000 when it first opened its doors a year ago, the Second and Sycamore street market has grown rapidly in popularity, not only because of the high quality of its foodstuffs, but because all of its employes are men and women who reside in Santa Ana or Orange county.

HAS LARGE FRONTAGE

The building has a 65-foot frontage on Sycamore street and a depth of 90 feet along Second street. It has a 17-foot ceiling, and is made of reinforced, earthquake-proof concrete throughout. The rest of the space of the 125 by 150-foot location is devoted to a parking lot, where attendants are stationed to park cars for women patrons.

Entrance to the parking lot is between two giant pepper trees that are recognized as Santa Ana landmarks. The trees grew with George Spangler's blacksmith shop, which occupied the site up until a year and a half ago.

All goods are plainly marked with their prices, and stacked so that they are easily reached.

COMPLETE REFRIGERATION

Refrigeration throughout the building is of the new freon system that consists of blower-type chillers to keep the proper temperature and humidity. In addition to being employed in the meat department, this refrigeration is used in a large beverage case, a dairy display case.

The produce department has air-conditioned display cases with blowers and coolers to circulate cool air in the produce as it stands stacked. This is designed to keep the goods fresh from grower to consumer.

Women's Lounge

In keeping with the policy to provide every possible convenience for women shoppers, the Pay-Less market has a women's lounge on the mezzanine floor of its Santa Ana store, Second and Sycamore streets.

The lounge, finished in ivory and brown, will appeal to women because of its striking beauty, coupled with quiet, conservative colors.

The lounge was furnished by Chandler's furniture store, and has the latest appointments, all in color harmony with the rest of the store.

ROOMY AISLES AT PAY-LESS

Four-day sales such as the Pay-Less Market is sponsoring today, running through Saturday, sometimes cause congestion among customers, but this is not true at the Second and Sycamore street market.

The $80,000 plant is equipped with roomy aisles which hold a large number of shoppers without confusion. Food is easily marked with price tags, and there is no difficulty selecting them.

Several employes are available as information clerks, and to direct the shopper to all articles in the store.

Pay-Less has a reputation not only for low prices but for quick, convenient service for its many patrons.

LOCAL PRODUCE IS FEATURED

The Pay-Less home-owned and home-operated market, Second and Sycamore streets in Santa Ana, goes a step further by purchasing, insofar as possible, local produce for this department of the store.

The firm strives to cooperate with Orange county farmers in every way.

Equipped with Christensen display cases, the produce department has motors and blowers to circulate cool air and keep the fruits and vegetables fresh throughout the day.

The air-conditioned cases push cool air up through the produce, thereby keeping it in excellent condition for the shopper.

"Pay-Less and Get More" is the slogan which applies to the produce department, as well as all departments of the centrally-located plant.

QUALITY MEATS AT PAY-LESS

Featuring the latest in meat refrigeration, the new freon air-conditioned units designed by the York Ice Machine company, the Pay-Less market has on hand the finest meats obtainable.

The York machines are equipped with the latest blower type chillers to keep an even temperature with the correct amount of humidity.

Meat cases are of porcelain with triple glass windows for perfect vision under all conditions. They are illuminated by strong electric lights.

Wall cases behind the meat display cases are mirrored with Neon signs built into them.

In addition to the display cases, there is a large walk-in storage to properly care for the meat before it is placed on display.

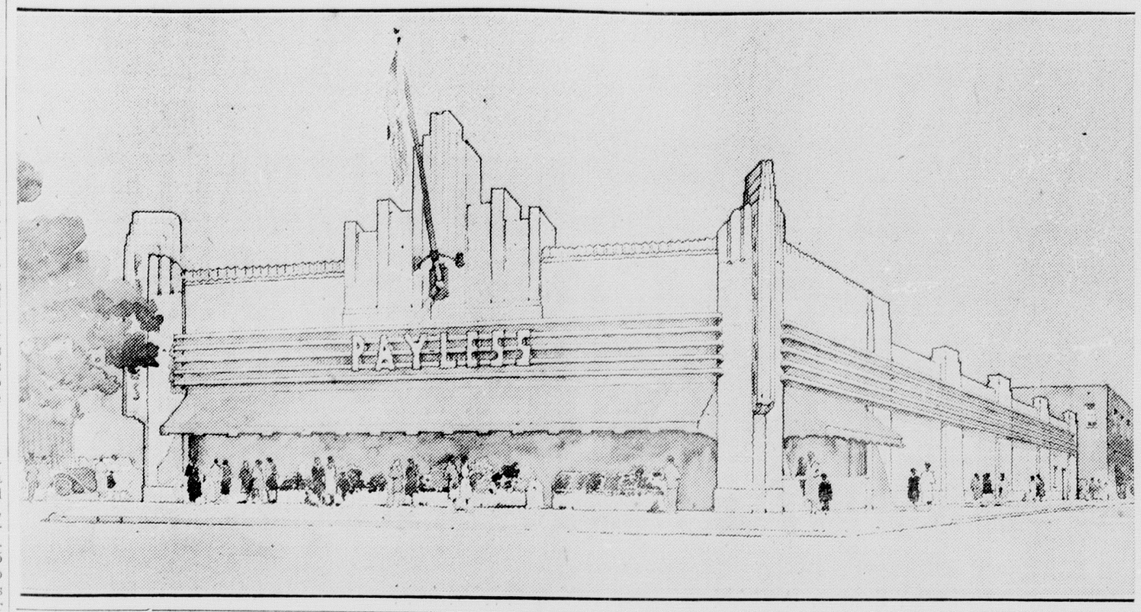

County Labor Built Store

When the Pay-Less plans for a $80,000 market were approved last year only the services of local contractors were used in construction.

R. C. McMillan was the general contractor, with Austin and Wildeman the architects of the modern new structure. Joe Catherina, plastering contractor, finished his work in record time, after the wiring conduits and indirect lighting fixtures were installed by Gilbert-Weston-Stearns.

Chandler's Furniture store and the R. A. Tiernan Typewriter company supplied the furniture and office equipment now in use.

Popular Santa Ana Food Market Observes Birthday

PAY-LESS HOLDS DOG PARADE FOR KIDS SATURDAY

Prizes Will Be Awarded for Smallest, Largest, Whitest and Blackest

Hey, kids! A democratic dog parade, open to all pets whether mongrel or pedigreed, will be sponsored by the Pay-Less market, Second and Sycamore streets, in Santa Ana Saturday, it was announced today.

The novel event will be a featured part of the Pay-Less market's celebration of its second anniversary in its $80,000 market, officials said.

The show will be unusual in that prizes will go not to dogs with pedigrees or royal blood, but to the smallest, largest, whitest and blackest dogs entered.

No entry fee will be charged. The dogs must be brought to the Santa Ana store by 9 a. m. Saturday for judging.

Three prominent judges will be selected from Santa Ana citizens for the contest.

Sometimes as many as 100 dogs are entered in parades of this kind, and preparations are being made to handle a large entry.

Although it is expected the greatest number of entries will be children, adults are invited to enter their pets, the management said.

$80,000 Plant

The Pay-Less market of Santa Ana, as it stands, equipped and fully stocked, represents an investment of $80,000 for the Santa Ana men who opened the store a year ago, and met with a fine reception.

The industry is home-owned as well as home-operated. All of the Pay-Less market's many employes either live in Santa Ana or other parts of Orange county.

Local labor has been employed on the building as far as has been possible, and local goods are purchased under the same system.

The large plant is located on the corner of Second and Sycamore streets, and is adjoined by a free parking lot for patrons of the market.

Aid To Parking

Not only does the Pay-Less management maintain a free parking lot adjoining its Second street store, but hires attendants to park automobiles of women shoppers, and to carry groceries to their cars.

The basket-carrier service inside the store is a great aid to shoppers, and is recognized as one of the most convenient shopping aides in the grocery business.

View of Crowds at Opening a Year Ago

Sale Will Run All This Week

Free Parking Among Many Conveniences Offered by $80,000 Home-Owned Market

Four gala days of value-giving in foodstuffs will be ushered in today, as the Pay-Less market observes its second anniversary with a sale in his $80,000 home-owned, home-operated plant at Second and Sycamore streets in Santa Ana.

Free parking, on a lot with an 85-foot frontage on Sycamore street and 125 feet deep, will be offered not only during the four-day sale, but on every shopping day of the year.

DOG PARADE SLATED

A dog parade, with adults as well as children invited to enter their pets, will be held Saturday. All entries must be made at the store before 9 a. m. for judging, which will be done by three prominent citizens, the management said today.

"Pay-Less, Get More" will be one of the slogans carried out during the sale, which is being held in appreciation for the fine response the Santa Ana store has received during the first year of operation.

Staples, all kinds of meat and pastry will be offered at the lowest in keeping with the Pay-Less policy.

Adequate employes will be available to serve shoppers during the big sale.

All goods are plainly marked with their prices, and stacked so that they will be easily reached.

QUALITY MERCHANDISE

The grocery department is stocked with the finest quality merchandise, and features easy-to-reach shelves with easy-to-read price tags.

In keeping with a conservative color scheme of ivory and brown. Plain, easily-read markers are placed under each item. Only hanging fixtures in the store are the indirect lighting apparatus, used throughout the large plant.

Basket Carrier

An innovation in shopping convenience, the market basket, pictured above, is used by Pay-Less market patrons to remove drudgery of carrying their packages from department to department.

All the Pay-Less shoppers must do is select a basket carrier, which is equipped with rubber tires, start along the wide aisles, make their purchases and wheel the carrier right up to the man who does the checking. No more does the shopper have to change her heavily-loaded basket from one hand to the other. That burden has been removed by the thoughtful Pay-Less management, which always is thinking of the shopper's convenience and comfort, whether in equipment or foods.

Located at Second and Sycamore streets, extensive floor space all on the first floor, free auto park, courteous attendants and clerks, are ready to serve the shopper promptly and efficiently.

This attractive food market embodies all that goes into a well-managed market. It features the best in groceries, critical in its selection of vegetables, accepts only the choicest in meat and delicatessen, and has made provisions for the shopper's pastry palatability in a bakery carrying many tempting delicacies.

Adequate information about the Pay-Less food market cannot be described in brief space. The store is too large with individual bargains to be offered. It is a comparatively new store that has leaped into spontaneous favor. This home-owned and home-operated organization is ready to welcome and serve you.

CONVENIENCE IS PAY-LESS AIM

Convenience was the aim of the Santa Ana management when it constructed an $80,000 market at Second and Sycamore streets last year.

Located near the heart of the trading area, the spacious market, with a 65-foot frontage on Sycamore street and a depth of 90 feet along Second street, had a free parking lot adjoining the store, with basket-carrier service and roomy aisles inside the market for the convenience of hundreds of shoppers who make daily purchases.

General offices of the company are located in Santa Ana. The company is a California corporation, operated by Santa Ana men. They have another outlet at Belmont Shores, but the Santa Ana store is operated by Santa Ana owners, assisted by employes who either live in Santa Ana or other parts of Orange county.

Courteous Help Work at Pay-Less

When you shop at Pay-Less market, Second and Sycamore streets, Santa Ana, you can expect courteous and prompt treatment.

VARIED PASTRY OBTAINABLE

All kinds of fancy and plain pastry are obtainable in the bakery department of the Pay-Less market, home-owned and home-operated shopping center of Santa Ana.
